FURTHER TAX CUT POSSIBLE, CAL SAYS

U. S. READY TO COOPERATE IN PEACE PLANS

Administration Is Prepared to Investigate Agricultural Conditions

President Favors Protective Tariff in Speech to U. S. Chamber of Commerce

By Associated Press
Washington, D. C.—Having summed up his views on government administration and campaign issues in his address before the United States Chamber of Commerce, President Coolidge Friday had few other engagements on his calendar prior to the election, and none calling for an extended speech.

In the statement of his position on government problems Thursday night, Mr. Coolidge said further tax reduction is possible, and asserted that the administration is prepared to continue cooperation in international affairs in the interests of peace, is ready to investigate agricultural conditions to place farming on a profitable basis, and is determined to maintain a protective tariff. He also reiterated his opposition to proposals for public ownership of transportation and for limitation of the powers of the supreme court, which he assailed as "revolutionary."

The address was delivered before a meeting of the eastern division of the United States Chamber of Commerce, with businessmen from eleven states in attendance, and was radio-cast to almost every section of the country. Numerous laudatory messages from all parts of the country were received at the White House early Friday on the speech. C. Bascom Blamp, secretary to the president, reported.

GOVERNMENT WILL HELP
"The government," Mr. Coolidge declared, "can help to maintain peace to promote a protective tariff to assist the farmers, to leave the people in possession of their property and to maintain the integrity of the courts."

In foreign affairs, he declared in favor of constitutional covenants to outlaw aggressive warfare, conferences to limit armaments and to modify international law and American adherence to the permanent court of international justice.

He opposed American representation at conferences discussing questions of "purely our own domestic affairs," cancellation of war debts owed this country by foreign nations, and entry of the United States into the league of nations.

"It is impossible to escape the conclusion that the general economic condition of the country is good," he said. "While business and agriculture have not fully recovered the losses caused by the world wide depression which always follows war, they are now on a fairly profitable basis. It would be natural to suppose that every well wisher of the country would be anxious to maintain the present established order of things, which have given to the people of America, a position superior to that ever before held by any people earth."

SLAYERS PAY FOR CRIME ON GALLOWS

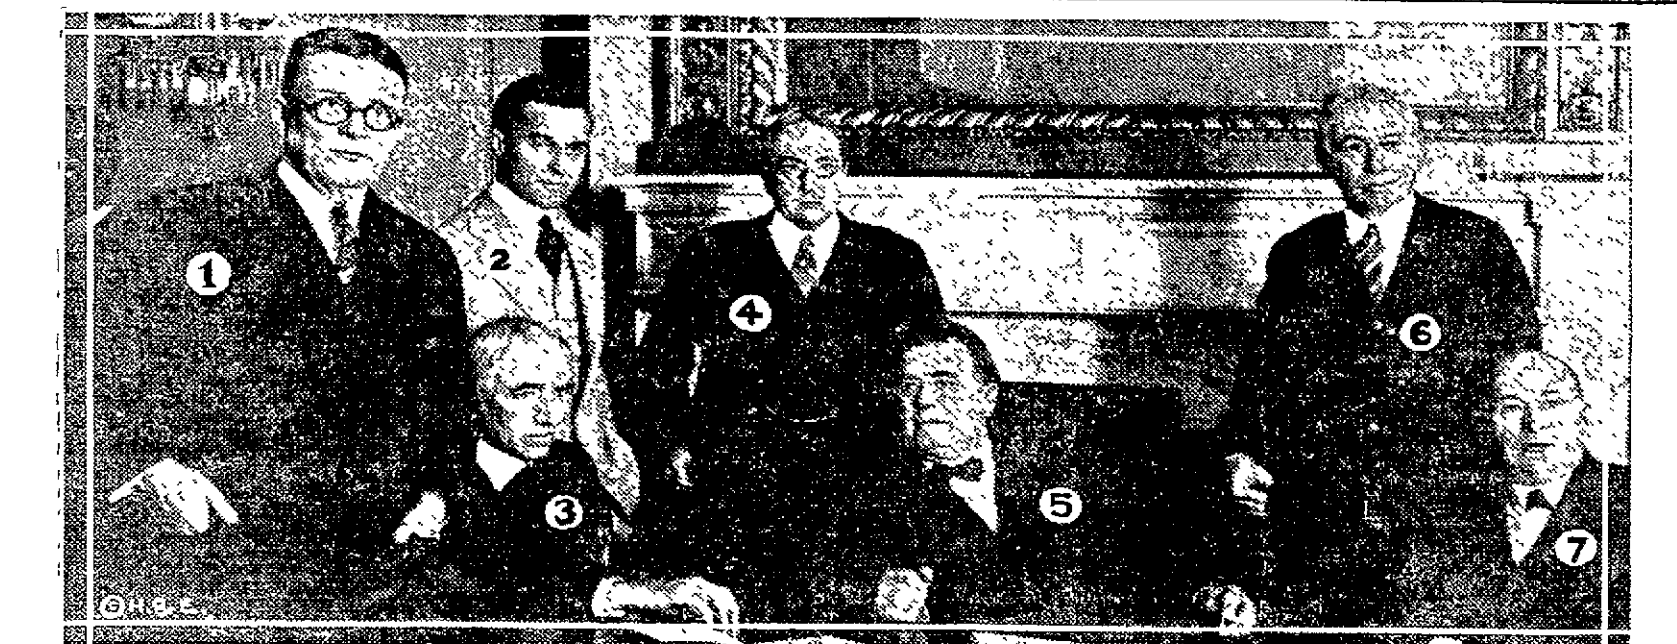

By Associated Press
Montreal—Louis Moreland and Frank Gambian, murderers of Henri Cleroux were hanged at Bordenaux jail at 4:55 Friday morning. Giuseppe Serafini and Tony Frank followed them to the scaffold and were executed three minutes later.

Gambino's last words on the scaffold were addresses to Executioner Ellis whom he enjoined to "go easy."

A mass was said for the condemned men shortly before they walked to the scaffold. All the men spent the hours immediately preceding the execution in prayer. They had a light lunch at midnight. Moreland wrote two letters, one to his daughters and one for publication in the newspapers after his death. The letter was passed by the warden to the prison prison cell and headed with the words:

"For the journalists follows:
To My Creator:
"I offer you my death in a spirit of reparation for all the sins of my life. Lastly, I offer you my death as an act of perfect love and a last act of love for earth. I pardon all and I implore the Holy Virgin to appease the anger of God and to preserve me from eternal malediction."

Attacked By Mob, Mentor Kills Youth

By Associated Press
Chicago—A maniacal scold was used Thursday night by John H. Morris, a Park physical instructor, to fatally stab Harry Rafferty, 19, and seriously wound John Coyle, 19, members of a crowd of youths who attacked Morris as he left the park from which he previously had rejected them. Although the police to whom he surrendered, said he acted in self-defense, he was ordered held pending an inquest Friday.

Morris said he was struck down and beaten by the crowd which waited for him before he wielded the scissors.

UNION FOOD STORE OFFICIAL SOUGHT PRIVATE HEARING

Defendant Supplied Head of Securities Commission With Stock

By Associated Press
Milwaukee—When the Union Food Stores Co. failed and bankruptcy proceedings were pending, Edward Grieb, city real estate agent, attempted to have his testimony given privately before the examining officer in bankruptcy court, Leon E. Foley, the examiner, declared on the stand Friday in the trial of eleven officers, directors and agents of the company, charged with conspiracy charges in federal court here.

Grieb, a defendant in the case, is alleged to have negotiated with the state securities commission for a permit to sell stock and supplied Garfield S. Cunniff, head of the commission, with 100 shares of stock in the company.

The day before he was to appear in bankruptcy court, Foley said, Grieb came to his office accompanied by two attorneys with the request that the examination be conducted in private. The request was referred to John D. Harper, referee in bankruptcy, who denied it, the witness testified.

POLISH DEBT FUNDING PACT AWAITS APPROVAL

By Associated Press
Washington, D. C.—Formal conclusion of an agreement with the Polish government for refunding that nation's obligation to the United States, amounting with interest to about $168,000,000, Secretary Mellon, chairman of the foreign debt funding commission, announced Friday, awaits only the approval of all members of the commission. The pact modeled after the agreement with Great Britain is expected to draw no objection from any source.

LaFollette Declares War On Money Barons

Detroit, Mich.—As he traveled eastward Friday from Grand Rapids, Mich., where he spoke Thursday night, Senator R. M. LaFollette, independent presidential candidate, declared in a statement that "it is being whispered about by bankers, railroad operators, industrial trusts and the press controlled by them, that should LaFollette be elected there will be a panic, that credit will be shortened and that banks will withdraw their support to business."

"This is the same old bluff that has been used at this stage of every campaign in which there has been a real issue," he continued.

"In 1912 when Woodrow Wilson was a candidate, the financiers and trust magnates threatened that if he was elected there would be a panic. He was elected and there was no panic. They have used it in state elections. They have even used it in city elections. It is a sure sign of reactionary distress x x x."

"I do not question the power of Wall Street to produce a panic but I do challenge their courage to do so through the conspiracy which they proclaim with the penitentiary staring them in the face."

"If I am elected as I fully expect to be, and this wicked thing is done or attempted to be done, the department of justice with all of its agencies of investigation will be instructed to bring their crime against a free people face to face with summary justice. The punishment shall be swift and sure."

"The department of justice will be instructed to indict and to bring to trial any man, no matter how powerful he may be, who has been guilty of an attempt to use his power over the money and credit resources of America, not only to wreck business, but to influence men's votes by intimidation or bribery in any form."

"I will go further than that. Under the federal reserve act, banking is a quasi-public business. Under government supervision our credit resources are assumed to be agencies of relief rather than of plunder. They are supervised by a governmental agency, the federal reserve board. I shall instruct that board to consider any such action by any member bank to be a criminal betrayal of its relations to the government. I shall instruct it to treat any such bank as an enemy of the public and as such an enemy to be unworthy of participation in the favors which the federal reserve system has in its power to grant."

FIRE THREATENS HUGE COAL DUMP
Ore Docks of C. & N. W. Road Are Destroyed With Loss of One Life

Escanaba, Mich.—The fire which destroyed the Chicago and Northwestern railroad's No. 8 and 4 ore docks Thursday night and caused the death of one man, jumped 250 feet to the C. & N. W. dock early Friday morning and destroyed four unloading towers and ignited 9,000 tons of hard coal, the flames of which are threatening 55,000 tons of soft coal nearby.

While fire apparatus from Escanaba, Gladstone, Menominee, Rapid River and Marquette, Wis., are trying desperately to prevent the pile of soft coal from burning, dredging crews are searching the wreckage of ore dock No. 8 for George Ingram, foreman of the Peppard and Berrill Co. of Superior, Wis., contractors, who were engaged in tearing down the huge docks when the fire started at 8 o'clock Thursday night.

DENY REHEARING OF PLEA FOR HIGHER COAL RATES

Madison—Rehearing on the application of the Northwestern Coal Dock Operators association the Illinois Coal Traffic bureau and the Wisconsin Traffic association for increase in freight rates on coal shipments from Wisconsin, has been denied by the interstate commerce commission, according to advices to the state railroad commission Friday. The interstate commission recently held adversely on the increase.

Washington, D. C.—Secretary Wallace of the agricultural department has suffered complications from the operation he underwent last week for the removal of his appendix and gall bladder, and his condition is regarded as serious.

Laborite Is Attacked By British Reds

By Associated Press
London—The worst of the series of rowdy disturbances which have marked the British election campaign occurred Thursday night at Greenock, where the Laborite candidate, Councillor Stephen Kelly, while holding a "street meeting," was attacked by a gang of roughs, kicked, struck on the head with a lead pipe and knocked unconscious. A fierce battle followed between Kelly's adherents and his attackers (who were apparently supporters of his rival candidate, a Communist). The police rescued Kelly from the scene of the skirmish and dispersed the crowd, but the uproar continued for some time. Kelly was seriously hurt and his speaking engagements have been cancelled.

ELECTION RESULT WILL AFFECT U. S. PROSPERITY, GARY

Chairman of Steel Corporation Outlines Requirements of President

By Associated Press
New York—Business conditions during the next four years depend largely upon the result of the coming election, E. H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel corporation declared in his presidential address to the American Iron and Steel institute Friday.

"Every well-informed businessman or woman," he said, "knows that if the best men are elected there probably will be continued and increasing prosperity, and if other less capable and less worthy are selected we may expect depression and disturbances in business, less production, more idleness, less comfort, more distress, a decided interruption to legitimate progress that will not be easily nor soon overcome."

Mr. Gary said he was convinced the public had been right during the last few months in believing the election returns would be satisfactory as shown by the steady and persistent increase in the volume of business with such a result he added that the country could look forward through the autumn and succeeding months with hope and confidence.

"Our ship of state is too great, too fine, too solid, substantial and strong," he declared, "to be pronounced unworthy on the words of unscrupulous, unintelligent or inexperienced men, and then turned over to a board of underwriters."

Outlining qualifications which he believed a president of the United States should possess, Mr. Gary said: "He should be willing to lend his influence and devote his talents to legitimate business progress and general prosperity and likewise to prevent and penalize corruption and wrong. He should endeavor to assist and to protect the poor, the weak and the suffering, and at the same time should be willing to help the rich the strong and the happy when it is indisputably right to do so."

SCHWAB DENIES PLANS TO BRANCH OUT IN WEST
New York—Charles M. Schwab, chairman of the Bethlehem Steel corporation, Friday denied reports that he was seeking to purchase control of the Pittsburgh Steel Co. and the McKeesport Tin Plate Co. The steel magnate said that his plans for the future development of the Bethlehem Steel corporation lay in the eastern markets and that he had no intention of acquiring western properties.

NEW JERSEY IS FOR COOLIDGE, LAWRENCE SAYS

Manufacturers Use Certain Coercion to Steer Employees Away from Radicalism

SEES CHAOS IN BOB'S PLAN

Republican Candidate Will Carry State by Large Majority, Is Claim

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright 1924 by the Post Pub. Co. Newark, N. J.—New Jersey is not a doubtful state. There are circumstances under which it might have been. Perhaps if LaFollette had not entered the race or if Al Smith had been the candidate, but facing the situation as it is, President Coolidge will carry it by a majority over both candidates which may be from 50,000 up, though his lead over John W. Davis will be larger than that figure.

The eyes of McKinley and later of Roosevelt when the manufacturers went down the line for the Republican party and persuaded their employees to vote the Republican ticket will be recalled as one examines closely the situation in this state.

Critics might call it coercion or intimidation and defenders of the price tag may say that only a small number of voters is affected by the persuasive arguments of employers, but nevertheless the various votes taken in factories and plants indicate that the "working men have been scared away from LaFollette into the Coolidge camp with genuine effectiveness."

In a chemical plant in this section, about 301 votes were cast. All but one voted for Coolidge. The lone ballot was for LaFollette. None was cast for Davis. Now these things sometimes happen in a small group where there is an opportunity for an argument to be made which will sway the group. But when it happens in large numbers it means that some one has told the working men what it is to their interests to vote a certain way.

The employer in question made no bones about it. He felt he did nothing more than exercise his American right to advise his employees how they ought to vote. And he sincerely believes that a vote for LaFollette is a vote for chaos. He is convinced that an election thrown into the house of representatives means business uncertainty, the stoppage of credits and a general restraint which may mean shutting down his plant. Feeling that way, he wants LaFollette beaten and Coolidge elected.

That happened in the plant referred to has been happening throughout the state. The writer heard the same story in industrial Trenton. It is quite common in manufacturing states on some occasions. But it did not happen to any extent in 1920 nor in 1916. This year the LaFollette bogey has done more to stimulate the conservatives and the manufacturers generally than any one thing. The tariff has been trotted out as bearing upon the wages of the workmen and many of them are convinced they would be adversely affected if the tariff were tinkered with.

GUILTY IS VERDICT IN BOSCOBEL TRIAL

Lancaster—George Shields, Boscobel night watchman, was found guilty of assault with intent to do bodily harm by a jury in Grant County court Friday.

The case was an outgrowth of a Ku Klux Klan parade at Boscobel, home town of Governor Blaine.

The jury was out one hour and ten minutes when it returned the verdict of guilty. Judge Smalley set Oct. 30 as the date on which he will hear motions for new trial. Until after that time no sentence will be passed.

William and James McGeevor, defense attorneys, announced that in case new trial is denied, an appeal will be taken to the supreme court.

SOVIET SHIP REACHES PORT WITH AMERICANS
Petropavlovsk, Kamchatka, Siberia—After a tempestuous voyage, the Soviet Russian transport, Red October, arrived here Friday from Wrangel island with Charles Wells of Union town, Pa., survivor of the expedition which Vilhjalmur Stefansson took to the island a year ago and with twelve Eskimo members of the expedition who are American citizens.

TREASURY SILENT ON TAX PUBLICITY

Lawyers Disagree and Publishers Await Ruling Regarding Law

By Associated Press
Washington, D. C.—While lawyers disagree, and publishers wait for a ruling, the treasury department remained silent on the question of how far newspapers can go under the new tax law in publishing income tax returns.

In conformity with the laws orders have been issued to internal revenue collectors to open to inspection the records of their offices showing how much each taxpayer contributed to the national treasury on last year's income.

Last Thursday night, however, some one discovered and promulgated as a treasury notice another section of the law which declares it "unlawful for any person to print or publish in any manner whatever not provided by law any income tax return or any part thereof or source of income, profits, losses or expenditures appearing in any income tax return." The section carries a penalty of $1,000 fine or one year's imprisonment.

New York—Frank K. Powers, collector of internal revenue for the Second district announced Friday that publication of income tax returns was violation of the law, and that violators were subject to a penalty of $1,000 fine or one year in prison or both. He said he could not state whether local newspapers which published partial lists would be prosecuted.

WOMEN UPSET WETS IN ONTARIO VOTING

By Associated Press
Toronto—Revised figures in the Ontario liquor prohibition vote to 9:30 o'clock Friday morning gave a majority of 30,167 for the temperance act. The figures in the "dry" column continue to mount as returns are received from the various divisions. The revised figures from 5,553 of the 7,332 subdivisions were: for the temperance act 477,324, for government control 447,157. Virtually all of the subdivisions yet to be heard from are in rural districts and it is generally conceded that the dry majority will continue to mount to higher figures as the returns are completed.

The women's votes, especially in the rural districts constituted the principal deciding factor in the balloting in favor of the temperance act. Their votes reversed the lead of the wets in virtually all of the larger towns and cities.

Senator Walsh of Montana Reports Irregularity in Funds for State

By Associated Press
Washington, D. C.—Senate campaign fund investigators were asked Friday to hear in executive session two witnesses from Chicago who it was indicated, had information bearing on expenditures on behalf of the Republican national ticket.

Samuel Undermeyer, of counsel for Senator Robert M. La Follette, said in making the request that he was not willing to take the responsibility of having the testimony made public before full corroboration because of the possible effect on the Republican campaign.

"I don't care to take the responsibility in the absence of corroborative testimony readily available to the committee of spreading this before the country," Undermeyer said, "until the committee has run down the leads these men will be able to give."

Coming to the seventh day of its inquiry, the senate campaign fund investigating committee still sought Friday some direct evidence to support the rumors and reports of the "slush fund" which was used for use in the national ticket on behalf of the Republican national ticket.

WALSH BRINGS RUMOR
One of the latest of these rumors was conveyed by Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana prosecutor in the famous Teapot Dome oil inquiry, who telegraphed that there were reports that $100,000 was being sent into that state not through regular Republican organization sources, for use against him in his campaign for reelection. The committee will seek to run down these rumors. Meanwhile it has agreed to call the Republican state chairman of New York, New Jersey, Ohio and Illinois, with a view to determining whether there have been "concealed" contributions from big business men to the Republican campaign fund.

In addition, counsel for Senator Robert M. La Follette, who first made the charge of a slush fund have prepared a list of more than a score of new witnesses they desire to question. These include the chairman of some of the 50 or 60 special committees which Charles D. Hilles of New York testified in any income tax return. The section carries a penalty of $1,000 fine or one year's imprisonment.

On this new list appears the name of W. L. Mellon, a nephew of the secretary of the treasury, who it has been testified, is in charge of collecting for the Republican campaign fund in the Pittsburgh district. La Follette's counsel also has asked that R. E. Mellon, a brother of the secretary, be called.

THIRD PARTY SEEKS TO FOMENT REVOLT. DEMOCRAT DECLARES

Racine Lawyer Condemns Radical Program in Address in Eagle Hall

That the young men of our country are not taking an interest in its affairs, but prefer to attend movies and parties rather than meetings for discussion of vital questions of the day and that the two great parties of the country must bring about the defeat of those who would destroy them from within were the points emphasized in an address by Attorney Thomas M. Kearney of Racine, at Eagle hall Thursday evening.

Mr. Kearney was introduced by Attorney John Morgan, chairman of the meeting, who said that there was an apathy in political matters, the people being too busy with other things to exercise their rights as citizens and take care of the public business.

NEED ACTION
Mr. Kearney stated that he was speaking to the people of Wisconsin because the nature of the questions involved in this campaign are of such vital importance to the people and their government. Citizens in general are inactive in the study and discharge of political duties and must be aroused to action.

The speaker discussed the fundamentals suggested by the platform of the so-called Progressive party. The first was whether the method of selecting the judges of the Supreme court should be changed, the second concerned the withdrawal from the court of the power to determine the constitutionality of the acts of congress, and third, the right of the government of the United States to take over railways and public utilities of the country.

Mr. Kearney said that the idea that the Supreme court should be an elective body and not have power to pass upon the acts of congress was as old as our history but there were not many advocates of election by the people. The fact that the judges are independent of politics has been declared the court's finest attribute. Political unrest or public clamor does not disturb it. The Bergers, Hilquists and LaFollette with their constant demands for change cannot reach it. Whoever loves his country more than party clamor or personal advancement is against making the Supreme court the football of party politics, Mr. Kearney said.

The speaker said the constitution is both a grant and limitation of power extended by the people to the government. It grants congress power but also limits the power. The bill of rights handles this well, and is the essence of liberty, but the only means of preventing congressional interference in this matter is the Supreme court, he said. It exercises its great power in preserving them. No man, unless he is bent on revolution, would dare to ask the people of the country to surrender up the rights of defense provided for them in the Supreme court. No excuse except internal revolution can be suggested for this proposed change in the law, Mr. Kearney declared.

The demand that the government take over the railways was refuted with the statement that the debt it would cause would equal the war debt which will take almost 50 years more before it is paid. The plan pursued by La Follette and his supporters is intended to compel government ownership through laws which will bring every railway line in America to the verge of bankruptcy, according to Mr. Kearney. The entire scheme is a contribution to socialism and communism in America in return for political support in the pending campaign.

In conclusion Mr. Kearney appealed to his hearers to forget their differences over Coolidge and to join in getting out the vote and ridding Wisconsin of the army of place hunters now infesting the capital of the state.

Building permits authorizing construction estimated at $2,300 were issued by the building inspector Thursday to the following:

Flashes Out Of The Air

Between 20 and 25 stations were in the air Thursday night with President Coolidge's address which he delivered at the National Chamber of Commerce meeting in Washington. Stations all the way from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast were broadcasting the talk. Mr. Coolidge was in excellent voice and he apparently gauged his talk so it would be more easily understood able to his radio audience.

WGY, WJZ and KDKA cooperated in broadcasting a splendid program by Brunswick phonograph artists Thursday night. The announcer asked for letters from listeners so that he might determine whether his audience want more programs like it had just heard.

A classical program will be put on the air by WGN from 8:30 to 9 o'clock Friday night.

Football parties probably will be organized in Appleton Saturday afternoon to hear a play by play report of the big games. WGY is to broadcast the Princeton-Notre Dame game and WGN will be on the air with the Michigan-Wisconsin game.

Radio listeners who heard Mr. Coolidge's address last night probably will want to hear what John W. Davis, Democratic candidate for the presidency, has to say tonight. His talk will be broadcast by WLW of Cincinnati. It is scheduled to start at 8 o'clock.

WVAY of Milwaukee, 266 meters, will broadcast a concert beginning at 8 o'clock tonight. It would be interesting to know how many Appleton people can hear this station. Most radio set owners declare they cannot bring in the Milwaukee stations.

A lot of folks are asking what has become of Station WPOS, Jefferson City. It has been silent for several weeks and its program are sorely missed. No reason has been given for its retirement.

L. D. Craig, H. F. Hall, O. R. Kloeppel and Walter Leach attended a meeting of Chevrolet dealers at Janesville Thursday and drove several new cars back after the meeting. Roman Probst of Lowell Drug Co. returned Thursday from Madison, where he took the state pharmacist examination.

Herman Kottke was a Milwaukee business visitor Friday.

CITY OFFICERS TO HAVE NAMES CUT IN BRIDGE PLATE

Name of Alderman Hanson, Foe of Bridge, Will Go on Tablet

The Cherry-st bridge is to be provided with a bronze plate bearing the names of several members of the city administration and others who were in some way identified with the construction of the bridge, according to present plans. A blue print has been made of the design.

Alderman L. O. Hansen, who opposed the construction of the bridge from the first moment it was proposed until the last authorizing act of the council, has consented to have his name engraved on the plate, because he is chairman of the street and bridge committee.

It is also planned to have the names of Mayor John Goodland, Jr., R. M. Connelly, city engineer, and those of the contractors, designing and construction engineers, engraved on the plate. It is contemplated to have the present administration, rather than the previous one which began the task, identified with the construction project. No plate was provided for the Lavest bridge and the inscription of the John-st bridge has been effaced.

ON THE SCREEN

"RACING FOR LIFE" IS THRILLING DRAMA

Those who remember how thrilling and entertaining "The Battling Fool" was will welcome the arrival of the second Perfection Picture, "Racing For Life," featuring Eva Novak and William Fairbanks, which comes to the New Elbow Theatre today and Saturday.

The fact is that the producers have left no effort to make the entire series of Perfection Pictures truly entertaining, with the punch and human interest that the public likes to see.

In "Racing For Life" Fairbanks contributes some real dramatic acting as well as a number of thrills that will hold you in suspense until the very end. His racing to a championship is one of the most notable scenes in the series recently filmed. Many Fairbanks fans will be glad to see him again with his unusually appealing stunts.

Eva Novak, who plays the leading lady, gives a superb performance, once more supplying ample reason why she has become a favorite in the film.

KATHLEEN NORRIS' NOVEL IS FILM HIT

Kathleen Norris' successful novel, "Christine of the Hungry Heart," has been made into a successful photoplay. It was produced by Thomas H. Ince for First National, and with a strong cast headed by Miss Florence Eldor, Warner Baxter, Ian Keith, Clive Brook and Walter Hiers, is one of the outstanding screen stories of the year.

"Christine of the Hungry Heart," will be shown at the Elite Theater tonight for the last time.

DENNY PLAY HAS STRONG HERO STORY

"The Reckless Age," film version of Earl Derr Biggers' Saturday Evening Post story "Lure Insurance," and Reginald Denny's latest Universal starring vehicle, comes Saturday and Sunday only to the Elite Theater. A lively story of comic complications surrounding the attempt of an insurance agent to protect the policy of a client who has taken a policy against failure to wed a rich fiancee, it is a rapid-fire series of alternate thrills and laughs.

A sensational fight, staged in Denny's best style, a chase in a speeding auto that adds further thrills and a daring kidnapping are interspersed

What Are Your Children Reading?

There is no more important problem for the parents of growing children than the supervision of their reading.

But books for children are difficult to choose. Child standards must be remembered and it is not easy for a grown person to get a child's point of view.

The little ones should be given only books by the great child-loving and child-understanding authors which hold true to the standards which govern good literature and good art.

There are many books that come under the above classification. The best of them are listed in "One Thousand Useful Books," the new booklet which this Bureau has for free distribution. Included are books for children under eight, books for boys and girls from eight to twelve, and books for older children.

Enclose two cents for return postage.

NEW MACHINES AID NIGHT CLASS PUPILS

Instructor Highly Pleased With Progress Made by His Students

Students in manual training department of Appleton vocational school, both day and night classes, are enabled to save time and money because of additional equipment installed in the department since last spring, according to James Chadek, instructor in the department. A planer makes it possible to purchase the lumber while it is in the rough and students at the school do the work of planing which heretofore had to be paid for. Other machines installed since spring are a wood lathe and a large jointer.

Mr. Chadek is pleased with the progress that his pupils are making and pointed out several articles of furniture which indicate a high degree of skill on the part of the makers. A special class made up of day vocational school students and high school students which meets Wednesday evenings, made three Queen Anne photographs and three Louis XVI davenport tables that compare favorably with the finest workmanship found in furniture stores. Black walnut and birch, finished in brown mahogany, are the materials generally used by this group.

Evening classes construct furniture for homes, such as built-in cupboards, cedar chests, tables, radio cabinets and bridge lamps. Articles made recently by this group include ten davenport tables and twelve gate-leg tables.

Part time and half time day vocational school students are required to make table lamps finished in polychrome. In addition they make small tables and chairs.

APPOINT COMMITTEES TO WORK OUT WINTER WORK

The program for winter meetings is being worked out by the social and educational committees of Appleton Teachers Association, F. B. Younger, president of the organization announced. The committees recently appointed are Social, Mabel Burke, chairman; Helen Boyce, Lella Mortimer, Josephine Patton, Mrs. Selma Abendroth, Katherine Featherstone, Mary Rogers, Marjorie Kimball, Katherine Tracy, and Ruth McKennan; educational, C. Willard Cross, chairman; Mrs. E. W. St. Claire, Rose Helm, Frances Lindow, M. H. Small and James Chadek. The first meeting is scheduled for November, and the date and speaker will be announced later.

DREDGE OUT POND ON ZIEGLER FARM IN CENTER

Dredging of the fish pond on the Edward Ziegler farm in the town of Center (which was started in summer) is now in full swing. The pond had been completely drained and cleared of debris several weeks ago. Now two tractors are being used to draw scrapers in dredging the pond to make it deeper. The pond receives its supply of water from a spring. In the winter it furnishes the owner with a good harvest of ice. Fish have been caught in it in the past, and it is likely that the pond will be restocked.

Correct Valuation Of Phone Plant Is Partial Basis For Rate Protest

Brief Filed With Rail Commission Also Raises Question of Fees as High as Those of Green Bay

Inclusion of district property in the valuation of the Appleton plant and fixing of rates for business telephones at the same figure as Green Bay, a larger city, are among the principal arguments contained in the formal protest which the chamber of commerce has filed with the Wisconsin railroad commission concerning the request of the Wisconsin Telephone company for higher rates.

The brief presented to the commission was prepared by a committee consisting of Attorney Homer H. Benton, J. D. Steele and G. L. Carleton, after an extensive study of the telephone situation and conferences with business men and telephone officials.

It is shown in the document that rates for business telephones in Appleton are to be increased from 55 to 150 per cent, depending on the kind of service desired, and residence telephones will be 14 to 25 per cent higher.

NOT APPLETON ITEM

A statement submitted to Appleton subscribers showing the basis of the increase and giving the valuation of the plant as $567,217.16 contains several items not properly chargeable to the Appleton exchange, according to the special report. One of these is $8,200 included in an item of $30,208.29 termed "Other general equipment." The deduction suggested would be for equipment used for toll business and telephone service outside Appleton.

Objection also is raised to the item "real estate buildings," which amounts to $84,085.49. The committee contends that there is approximately $29,000 in this figure chargeable to toll service, since the entire Appleton exchange is not used solely for local purposes, and $10,000 to other exchanges, making a total deduction of $39,000.

raised in 1920 would not bear out this assumption, the statement says, and in fact a steady growth in the annual total of telephones is recorded since that time.

PAY DIVIDENDS

Further comment is made on the fact that the Wisconsin Telephone company paid a little more than 7 per cent dividends on its stock (referring to the state of Wisconsin as a whole) last year, and has built a large surplus. It is said that a utility in this condition does not need additional revenue.

Several other questions are raised in the petition as to the difference between figures submitted to Appleton subscribers and those given the railroad commission. These were cleared up in the hearing, where it was shown that accounting to the commission is for the state as a whole and that the Milwaukee office building is not prorated, whereas Appleton books show a complete record for the local utility only.

It was also explained that Green Bay soon may be deprived of free service to DePere and that Appleton's lower residence rates offset the business increase, making the aggregate here less than that of Green Bay.

KELLER HAS 69 SPEECHES LINED UP FOR 71 DAYS

An idea of just how busy a state editor of any organization is kept can be gained from the program of L. Hugo Keller, state commander of the American legion, who has 69 speaking engagements scheduled up to Jan. 31. Mr. Keller also received between 30 and 40 invitations to speak in various Wisconsin cities on Armistice day, but accepted two. On the morning of Armistice day he will dedicate a certificate of merit to the Indians at Wisconsin Rapids in behalf of the government, for services rendered during the World war.

Since Commander Keller took office on Aug. 15, he has spoken in 16 different cities, and in some instances more than once in the larger cities.

Ten million people have heard political speeches over the radio this year, according to estimates of experts.

THE WAR AND THE CAMPAIGN

Now that United States Senator Robert M. La Follette is warming up in his campaign for the presidency, his language is becoming stronger and stronger. In his St. Louis address, which was heard by eight thousand persons, he charged that the American nation entered the World war in deference to the demands of J. P. Morgan & Company, and associated financial institutions. The American bankers, said Mr. La Follette, had underwritten the allies' bonds, and the allies were overdrawn $400,000,000, with contracts for $800,000,000 more maturing in six months. Then the United States government decided to enter the war, thereby saving Morgan & Company from collapse.

This is a gross insult to former President Wilson, whose integrity and patriotism never have been questioned by his bitterest foe. It is also unjust to the patriotism of congress. In the next sentence he attacks President Coolidge, alleging that the same interests, Morgan and their associates, dictate the foreign policy of the United States.

Mr. La Follette ought to be willing to forget the war if the people at large are willing to forget his attitude toward it. He has reiterated the charges made in his St. Louis speech so many times he has come to believe them himself. We do not question his sincerity, but we think he is laboring under a state of mind which assumes facts that are not facts. By the same process of reasoning we suppose he would condemn the war of 1812 for the freedom of the seas, as inspired by our commercial interests. He would concede nothing to national honor.

Mr. La Follette has utterly failed to grasp the high purposes and ideals of Woodrow Wilson. He entertains such bitterness toward the financial powers centered in New York, largely with justice, that when domestic or foreign policies of the government do not coincide with his own he is ready to ascribe them to the influence of Wall street. Mr. Wilson's whole life and record was one of opposition to the precise forces Mr. La Follette is fighting. This element was the consistent critic and malinger of Wilson all the time he was president. Wall street had no use for him, laughed at his idealism and regarded him as a colossal failure. No one who understands the aspirations and aims of the American people will question Mr. Wilson's final decisions in the critical years of 1916-17. They will stand the test of time.

There are two issues that Senator La Follette would do well to minimize. One, the war, really has no place in this campaign, as it is a closed incident, resting only on the judgment of history. The second is the proposal to destroy the independence of the supreme court by making congress supreme and virtually abolishing our written constitution.

Mr. Ford, who knows more about the money power than all the politicians because he has had to make his way against it and because of his enormous operations in defiance of Wall street dictation, says Coolidge is above Wall street domination. He is a better authority on this subject than Mr. La Follette, and certainly has as much at stake. We believe American common sense will agree with Mr. Ford.

THE AUTO'S DEATH TOLL

During the year 1923 there were 14,412 deaths caused by motor vehicles. These statistics cover only the death registration area of the United States, which is 87.6 of the population. The total number of deaths, therefore, is somewhat larger than the number reported. These statistics as stated aggregate a death rate from automobiles of 14.9 per 100,000 population. This represents a steady increase from 10.4 in 1920.

What more impressive demonstration of the need of thorough and stringent regulation of automobile traffic could be asked than this annual slaughter? Pedestrians must be dealt with in the same restrictive way as automobiles. They must be held to their own responsibilities. It is the same tragic record we had on the railroads with reference to wrecks and collisions before safety devices and precautions were forced by law. The same requirements apply to the motor car. We must put it under control.

One of the first things the next session of the legislature should do is to respond to the wide public demand for enactment of rigid laws governing the licensing of drivers, regulation of driving and revocation of licenses. We owe this to the thousands whose lives are daily jeopardized and to the hundreds who will be killed per year in this state alone unless greater protection is afforded.

THE SHEARS OF DELILAH

So Samson told Delilah his secret: "There hath not come a razor upon mine head. If I be shaven, then my strength will go from me, and I shall become weak, and be like any other man."

And she made him sleep upon her knees; and she called for a man, and she caused him to shave off the seven locks of his head . . . and his strength went from him.

With his hair cut, Samson was weak. His enemies "put out his eyes and bound him with fetters of brass; and he did grind in the prison house."

But his hair grew long again . . . and he pulled the pillars from under a roof upon which were "about 3000 men and women."

As science studies the endocrine glands, it finds an interesting relationship between long hair and strength. The growth of the hair is regulated by the thyroid gland. Long, fast-growing hair means that the thyroid gland is over-active in manufacturing its mysterious chemicals. An active thyroid means that an abnormal amount of energy is being generated—nervous energy, rather than muscular.

The "hyper-thyroid" has to visit the barber often. He has a ravenous appetite without becoming fat; needs lots of fuel. He is a human dynamo, a terrific worker though quickly exhausted.

Does cutting the hair destroy strength? Men who are nervously highly-keyed often think so. They find themselves languid after visiting the barber, and uncomfortably supercharged with energy when they need haircut or shave—restless, unable to take life quietly, with repose.

There may be a scientific reason for artists and musicians wearing their hair long. Possibly an instinct tells them that this is the way to keep their batteries charged.

On the other hand, in some illnesses such as typhoid fever, it is necessary to bob the head to keep strength from "going to the hair." But even viewed from this angle, the hair and the matter of strength are interlocked.

A weird electro-chemical machine is the human body.

TODAY'S POEM

REMNANTS

Out in the yard stands a garden, once fair, but it's withered and faded away. Only a trace of what used to be there is the sight that will greet you today.

During the summer it echoed to toll through the blossoms that shone in the sun. Somebody played with and planted the soil, but the growth thus created is gone.

Stems that were once in their greenest of green and stood proudly high in the air, now droop in sadness, just making a scene that is totally wretched despair.

The warm summer sun has neglected the spot while the chill winds have taken the place. Proudful blossoms have shriveled to rot and of beauty there's hardly a trace.

Just one little rose in this garden still grows, but 'twill fade ere much time can elapse. 'Tis surrounded by death, maybe sleeping for breath. 'Tis the last rose of summer, perhaps.

THE DUMBELL

I can't find a dignified word to express just what I am talking about, so I use slang for the purpose. I mean the child who doesn't get along as well as he should in school. Not a moron, nor what is commonly called a backward child, but just a pupil that achieves the reputation of being rather "dumb" and fails to keep up with his class, or encounters more than a reasonable amount of friction with his teachers.

In a recent number of the Health Bulletin of the North Carolina state board of health an editorial from Southern Medicine and Surgery is reprinted. It is entitled "Sub-Privileged Children" and it contains this striking sentence:

"To compel a child to go to school whose physical condition is such that it cannot keep abreast of its fellows is not only brutally cruel to that child and a waste of state's money, but may actually embitter that child against society that a criminal is developed instead of a helpful citizen."

There is more good sense than literary license in that. The dumbbell comes in for a great deal of bad treatment in the hands of classmates, teachers and even his own parents, ridicule, repugnance, scorn and contempt to arouse resentment or to break down pride and create indifference. That disposition readily leads the child astray.

Even children afflicted with adenoids used to suffer in this way. The mental dullness that inevitably accompanies nasal obstruction of sufficient degree to impair the oxygenation of the blood by interfering with the function and the development of the breathing organs, and the slight deafness which commonly occurs with neglected adenoids, both conspire to make the child seem "dumb"—the old-time teacher very likely considered him "not bright," and on the other hand the modern teacher is more likely to accuse a real moron or mental defective of having adenoids.

Children with unrecognized defects of vision are often considered dull or backward or disrespectful to the teacher or ill behaved because they fail to see and understand all that is going on.

In fact any physical defect is pretty certain to be a handicap on the pupil's scholarship—even the old timers recognized something of this when they made the maxim "a sound mind in a sound body." The dumbbell, therefore should have the advantage of a careful medical examination and the best possible treatment of whatever physical defects the examination reveals.

This is by no means to be construed as an indictment of the fantastic notion that crime is a medical problem as suggested in sensational yarns about thieves and other criminals reformed by operations on the brain. All I mean to say is that the dumbbell is very often the victim of an unrecognized or neglected physical defect, and in any case is entitled to the best medical advice parents, school or state can provide. Now is the time to give the dumbbell this chance, before he becomes discouraged, indifferent or embittered.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

No Sarcasm Intended.

I understand you claim there is no such thing as a "cold." Will you please explain just what these so called "colds" are? (Mrs. S. A. M.)

Answer—The misnomer is applied to the earlier stage of each of the following diseases: Measles, scarlet fever, diphtheria, whooping cough, infantile paralysis, some cases of cerebrospinal meningitis; and to various stages of the following: Tuberculosis, influenza, bronchitis, tonsillitis, sinusitis, pneumonia; and now and then typhus.

Vitamins in Vegetables.

What vegetables contain vitamin A? Which vitamin B? Which are most healthful? (W. C.)

Answer—Raw cabbage contains large amounts of all three vitamins—vitamin A, which prevents rickets; vitamin B, which prevents neuritis, and vitamin C, which prevents scurvy. Lettuce is rich in vitamin A and vitamin B. So is spinach. Carrots contain all three. Potato contains considerable A and B vitamins. Raw cabbage is the finest all around "health food," to my mind, not only for its vitamins, but for its calcium, iron, phosphorus sulphur, tooth cleaning and roughage value.

Woman's Nature Is Hardier Today

(From The Buffalo Evening News.)

Were other evidence lacking that the woman of today is not what she used to be, convincing proof would be furnished in the fact that the French government at last has seen fit to abolish the position of theater doctor. Some kind of bureaucrat in years gone by created the post and made it mandatory that the theater should pay half the fee of each physician on duty at the playhouse, the state footing the rest of the bill. Now it has been discovered that women no longer faint at the play. They stand shocks, thrills and fearful moments quite as well as the men. Hence the French government's action.

As everybody knows modern girls and women in some respects are harder by far than their mid-Victorian sisters who fainted on any and all occasions and woke pity in manly bosoms for their fragility—even though some of the men suspected then that the fragility sometimes was more assumed than real.

But, perhaps, as far as the play goes, they need to be more enduring, more able to withstand things today. Fancy the drooping lily of yesterday sitting before a modern mystery drama. Why, she would pass away entirely—although, for that matter, some of our own clappers would be great to extinction by the kind of plays that set their female forbears to weeping and fainting and made the presence of doctors desirable if not imperative. Nature and evolution seem to go hand in hand still.

New Coins Bring Austria Solidity

A month has passed since the first series of Austria's post-war coinage was placed before the public. It was of little importance to the rest of the world, but to the peasants in the country and to the Viennese it was great news. It marked the end of the period from armistice through the tides of falling and rising paper money to stable currency.

Daily a long line stands before the National bank, peasants and housekeepers, folk with simple savings. They are waiting for the bank's opening at 8 o'clock to change as much of their paper money as the law allows into silver schillings. There is nothing disturbing in the spectacle, and it will gradually cease as the people find that there is plenty of the money and that everyone else uses it freely. Nevertheless there is certain to be for several decades a certain amount of this silver money stored away in stockings and chests, in cupboards and attics and cellars, provision against any rainy day which might bring a return of paper money.

Four coins have been issued, to the value of 10,000, 1,000, 200 and 100 crowns, and it is expected that the 20,000 and 5,000 pieces will follow in time. Seven thousand crowns are approximately 10 American cents. The 10,000-crown piece is called a schilling, reverting to an old German word, from which the English shilling is derived. There is no connection between the two coins. The schilling is eight-tenths silver and two-tenths copper.

C. O. Johnson, professional diver, broadcast from the bottom of the ocean off Atlantic City a description of the wrecks he encountered nine fathoms down.

Put on an Eagle Collar attached Shirt and notice the collar!

What is the big thing about a collar attached shirt if it isn't the collar?

Your vest covers up the body—but the collar is to be seen by everybody.

If you don't know how good a collar attached shirt can fit, feel and look—try on an Eagle collar attached shirt and see what a vast improvement it makes in every feature of your face.

Another thing: Eagle Shirts have collars that stand lots of cuffs—to them the laundry man's machinery is like so much velvet.

TWO FLOORS OF GOOD THINGS TO WEAR

Adventures In The Library

By ARNOLD MULDER

THE STRANGE CASE OF STEPHEN CRANE

At the age of 25 Stephen Crane—this was in 1895—won an international reputation almost overnight with his novel, "The Red Badge of Courage." The book was published on Oct. 3 and by the middle of January the boy's reputation had spread throughout America and England, and the great writers of the day, among them Henry James, William Den Howells, Hamlin Garland, Harold Frederic, Kipling, and others were hounding him. Five years later he died and one of the most amazing literary careers in America came to a premature close.

But the astonishing thing about "The Red Badge of Courage" is that it was written by a youngster of 25. Other youngsters have achieved similar triumphs. In fact, this has become quite the fashion the past few years, so much so that it is today almost a disgrace for a writer to be past 30. The astonishing thing about "The Red Badge of Courage" is that, although it is almost universally regarded as the greatest story of the Civil war that has so far been produced, it was written by one who had never been to war, who had never seen a battle, who did not even come from a family of soldiers—his father was a Methodist minister.

SOUGHT PROOF AFTERWARD

In fact, Stephen Crane reversed the usual order of things when he wrote this story of the Civil war. Usually a writer first collects his material—either consciously or unconsciously. He sails for a number of years in ships and then begins to write novels of the sea; or he goes to war and later writes war novels; or he spends his boyhood in a picturesque community, like Cape Cod or Creole New Orleans, and then places the scenes of his novels there.

Stephen Crane wrote a strong novel of the Civil war and then spent a large part of the rest of his life trying to prove by personal experience that he had hit it right, that his book was true and squared with the facts of war. Soon after the book had become famous there was a war in Greece. Stephen Crane dropped everything and hurried off to Greece as a war correspondent, not because he cared for that kind of thing—he was in fact one of the poorest newspaper reporters in the history of American journalism—in other words, a flat failure—but because he wanted to see if the facts of an actual war squared with his description of war in "The Red Badge of Courage."

This war, like his reporting, was a dud and he didn't get much chance to see it at first hand. Moreover, he was disappointed in other words, a flat failure—but because he wanted to see if the facts of an actual war squared with his description of war in "The Red Badge of Courage."

Then in 1898 the war between the United States and Spain broke out. Stephen Crane was living in England at the time and his friend Joseph Conrad tells the story of how he spent a whole day hurrying all over London to raise 60 pounds so he could go to the war on the other side of the Atlantic. He was always imprudent with his money and he seems to have been "broke" when the great opportunity came to see a real war.

And he saw it with a vengeance. In Cuba the heat and the rotten food and the unsanitary camp conditions took their toll of his frail constitution. He was desperately ill a large part of the time to the point often of unconsciousness, but he managed to see some actual fighting by which he could test the genuineness of his book. He was so reckless under fire that the rumor went out that he had tried to commit suicide in that way. And incidentally he was once more a failure as a newspaper reporter.

But he found out about his book and he seems to have been satisfied with the test, content because what he had evoked out of his imagination a few years before squared with the facts of real war.

"The Red Badge of Courage" is not the conventional war story of which thousands were written and published in America during the World war—with an impossible heroic hero who ticks a whole regiment of the enemy single-handedly. Stephen Crane tells the story of a young recruit who is bewildered by his first battle and runs away. It is as far removed from the typical war story as anything could be.

Don't let constipation make you an invalid —relieve it with Kellogg's Bran

Few people realize how dangerous is constipation until this dread disease tears down their health. Did you know that more than forty serious diseases can be traced to constipation?

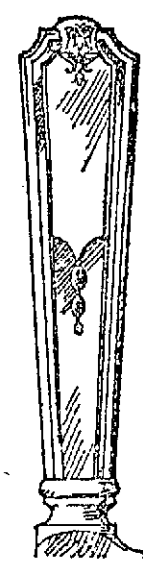

Keep your health, or restore it, with Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled. It brings relief in mild and chronic cases of constipation. It is effective because it is ALL bran. That is why it is recommended so highly by doctors. They know that only ALL bran can bring 100 per cent results. Part bran is, at best, only a halfway measure.

If eaten regularly, Kellogg's Bran will bring permanent relief even in the most chronic case. It is guaranteed to do so. If it fails, your grocer will return your money.

Because it is ALL bran it sweeps, cleans and purifies the intestine. Like nature, it acts naturally. It makes the intestine function regularly.

Eat it every day—two tablespoon-fuls—in chronic cases, with every meal. Eat it with milk or cream. Sprinkle it over other cereals. Cook it with hot cereals. Enjoy it in those wonderful recipes given on every package.

The flavor of Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, is delicious. It is crisp, nut-like. Quite different from ordinary bran, which are so unpalatable. Kellogg's Bran is made in Battle Creek and served by the leading hotels and clubs everywhere. Sold by all grocers.

DODGE BROTHERS DO NOT FORCE CARS ON DODGE CAR DEALERS

Says the President of Dodge Bros.

There is nothing very complicated in the production situation, as Mr. Haynes sees it. A factory is foolish to build more cars than its dealers can sell at profit to themselves he says, and adds that it ought to be possible to predetermine that number with some degree of accuracy if proper study is given.

"There isn't any sense in hitching a 1,000,000 gal pump to a 500,000 gal pipe line," he said. "It isn't good business to try to force cars on dealers."

The production schedule has to be built from the field out, from the factory. Manufacturing facilities must be arranged to suit sales demand, you can't make the demand suit the plant capacity. That's just common sense.

"We get from all our dealers four financial statements every year and a certified statement once a year. These reports give us our basis for estimating how many cars a dealer can handle, and we make our production accordingly. We don't let them have any more."

"We exercise more supervision over our dealer finances than do most automobile companies, but the practice has resulted in very material benefits both to the dealers and to ourselves. We have worked out three uniform accounting systems which are now in use by more than 95 per cent of Dodge Bros. dealers. One of the three systems will fit any dealer, whatever the size of his business. Over 75 per cent of our retailers are using the flat rate system which has been worked out by the factory."

This close touch with dealer affairs makes it possible for us to keep factory production pretty well in line with the needs of our retail organization. We are not at all interested in getting cars into the hands of dealers. We want them in the hands of the public. Until the dealer disposes of a car it is not sold as far as we are concerned. If there is any single reason why Dodge Bros. has kept on an even keel during recent months it is because we have built our factory operations on the basis of conditions in the field.

We always have worked out very carefully all of our systems or plans which we have urged our dealers to adopt. We do not assume a dictatorial attitude toward dealers, as we want them to go forward on their own initiative as much as possible. We do put on considerable pressure, however, to get them to adopt certain policies which we know are to their advantage as well as ours. We work our policies carefully and then we don't have to change them every year.

"Our dealer education work has not been flashy, but it is constant and practical. We try to deal with fundamentals of real importance, which actually will help the dealer to make money. The financial statement, I have mentioned. Our used car plan already is pretty well known in the trade. Just like our other policies, it isn't startling. It's just good common sense."

"We say to our dealers, you're business is composed of five parts—Car sales, Parts sales, Maintenance, Used car sales, Truck sales."

"Each must be profitable in itself. You can't be successful if you let new car sales bear some of the burdens of the used car department. You are in business to make money and every department must contribute to that end. That's where the uniform accounting system comes in. Working on this basis the used car policy simply amounts to this: 'Don't pay a price for a used car which will not permit you to recommend it at a profit.'"

"You may ask whether we don't lose some sales because of this policy. Certainly we do—very few. Any sales we lose because somebody wants us to present a prospective buyer with fifty or a hundred dollars are profitably lost. We make it possible for our dealers to carry out this same used car policy by refraining from giving them more cars than they can handle—and we know enough about their business to know how many that is."

ALL IS PRAISE FOR CROSS COUNTRY REO

Bus Gets to Atlantic City While Some of Passengers Were There

After completing its double coast to coast, run, the Reo Transcontinental Sedan Bus—first motor vehicle of its kind to make the run across the entire continent—was sent to Atlantic City for the annual convention of the American Electric Railway association.

There the big Reo Bus took part in a regular routine. Among the people attending the Atlantic City convention were a number of traction officials and bus operators who had been passengers in the bus over various parts of its long route. During the trip 636 people had ridden in the Reo, and apparently all of them were in Atlantic City, for the number of traction company officials and bus men who came around to see how the car looked after its strenuous journey and identified themselves as passengers was almost unbelievably large.

Men who had never seen the Reo Transcontinental Bus were fairly astounded at the facts presented concerning its trail-blazing run. They could hardly dwell on the facts without the evident good condition in which they saw the car.

When the bus returned to the Reo factory at Lansing after crossing the continent twice, it had traveled 9,300 miles. A period of fifty-seven days was taken in making this trip, although a few days were taken for rest for the crew.

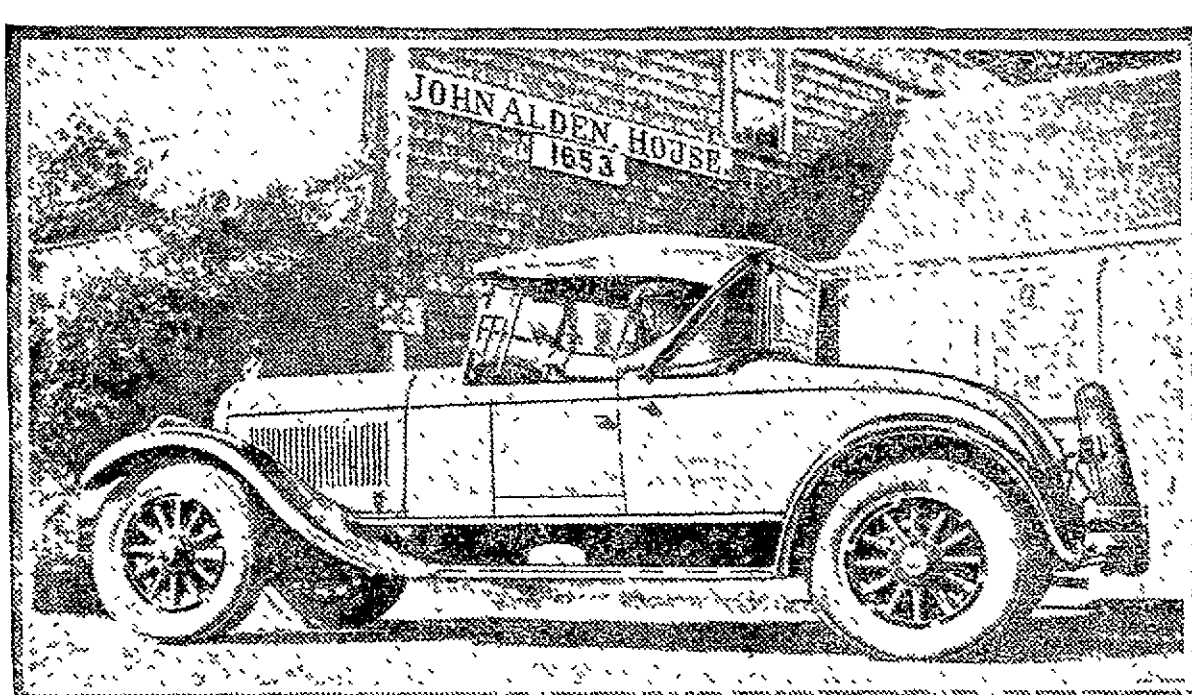

An average of 175.3 miles per day was maintained for all running days, and a gasoline mileage of 9.4 miles to the gallon was established. The longest continuous run was 303 miles between Kansas City and St. Louis and the next longest, 275 miles between Phoenix and Douglas, Ariz. On these runs a mileage of 11.9 miles to the gallon of gasoline was maintained.

Total gasoline consumption amounted to 850 gallons, while the oil used by the bus totaled 164 1/2 quarts.

The front tires on the bus were not changed during the entire trip and they brought back to Lansing the same air that they carried on their departure. The sum total of tire trouble experienced on the run was five punctures.

Mechanical difficulties were correspondingly light. When the bus was inspected before being sent to Atlantic City not a single check in the body finish nor a noisy joint could be found.

CHRYSLER SIX AT HOME OF JOHN ALDEN

The intelligent motorist likes to leave the beaten path to find things historical. Here for example is the famous John Alden house at Duxbury, Mass. It will be recalled that Alden was one of the Pilgrims who in 1620 emigrated to America and founded Plymouth Colony. From 1633 to 1675 he was an assistant to the governor of the colony. When he died in 1687 he was the last male survivor of the signers of the "Mayflower Compact" of 1620 and with the exception of Mary Allerton was the last survivor of the "Mayflower" company. He is remembered chiefly because of a popular legend, put into verse as "The

CHRYSLER NOW USED BY POLICE DEPT.

Speed of Car Influences Troopers to Buy One for Their Use

Here's a new wrinkle in demonstration. The West Virginia state police bought a Chrysler Six following one of the oldest on record.

G. M. Davis, manager of the Tri Motor Sales company, Maxwell Chrysler dealers of Clarksburg, W. Va., the home town of John W. Davis, was in a hurry to reach Fairmont, 25 miles away. He was in such a hurry that his Chrysler did it at night in the rain over slippery roads in 30 minutes.

While running along at 50 miles an hour he noticed a state trooper behind him. "I suppose he was chasing me," he said later, "as there was no one else I could see who needed to be chased for speeding. But I stepped on it."

"Some time after I reached Fairmont the trooper rode in. He said he had endeavored to catch me for 15 miles and supposed I must have been at least seven miles ahead of him when I reached Fairmont. The damage was $58.60, but the trooper was so thoroughly sold by my inadvertent demonstration that the state bought one a few days later. I call it the best arrest for speeding that I have ever received."

The Chrysler is now being used to accomplish what the trooper's motorcycle couldn't do—to catch speeders.

STOLE MOON CAR OF WALES PRINCE

Machine Was Purchased Especially for His Visit by Lake Forest Friend

A new Moon car which is said to have been purchased especially for the Prince of Wales to be presented to him during his stay in Chicago was stolen from Lake Forest, Ill., and recovered in Kenosha County early the following morning, according to a news item bearing a Kenosha date line.

The car was described as a Moon four passenger coupe, latest model and was stolen from Wayne Chatfield Taylor of Lake Forest, the owner.

According to the chauffeur, the stolen Moon had been purchased by Mr. Chatfield-Taylor for the use of the Prince of Wales during his stay at Chicago. The present of the swaggar little car was to be made to "P. W." who in plain United States is David Windsor, upon his arrival for a short stay with Americans in Chicago, whose acquaintance he made in England. The gift would represent only one of the many showered upon the "hope of England" during his short stay in Chicago, but was expected to reflect the sympathetic attitude of the American hosts towards the love of life and of happiness shown by the young heir to the British throne.

The Chrysler is now being used to accomplish what the trooper's motorcycle couldn't do—to catch speeders.

USED BUICKS ALWAYS IN GREAT DEMAND

The durability of the Buick is well exemplified by the fact that they frequently serve two or even more owners in succession with great satisfaction. The high quality of the material used in the Buick and the high grade of workmanship account for the fact that many motorists prefer to buy a used Buick rather than a new car of lower quality.

Mr. W. C. Kennedy, The Kennedy Place, Fresno, California, recently sold a Buick that had served him since 1918, and of course bought another Buick. "I drove the first Buick 65,000 miles," he writes, "and to my recollection it never was in a shop except after I had driven it 25,000 miles, to have the valves reground."

"Mr. Madsen who purchased the car tells me that the engine is in perfect condition. He says he expects to drive the car as far as I did."

"To what do I attribute my success with this car. That can be answered in two words. Proper lubrication. Every five hundred miles from the time I purchased this car, it was taken to a man who does nothing but oil and grease cars and it was taken care of properly."

"My new Buick is a perfect dream to drive. I am much pleased with it."

MOTOR BUILDING IS BIGGEST TASK

Half of Men in Chevrolet Are Required to Get Out This Part of Car

Only those who have actually gone through a motor car factory realize that practically one-half the force works on the building of the motors. For after all, the regard in which a car is held by the public has really been built upon how well the motor functions under all conditions.

And how well the motor is built depends on how fine are the measurements or limits used in the building of the motor and its parts.

Though it is well known that in the building of the motors in the highest priced cars the limits to which the parts and assemblies are held are so small as to be invisible to the naked eye, it is not so generally known that such practice extends to some of the lowest priced cars on the market.

In building of all the Chevrolet motors at the gigantic factory at Flint, Michigan, limits are held as low as two ten thousandths of an inch. Practically every part manufactured receives 100 per cent inspection before it is fed into the assembly line.

Then such close assemblies are made as piston pin fits into piston to a limit of .0002 of an inch, cam shaft, connecting rod and crankshaft bearing are held to .001 of an inch. In addition to holding to these infinitesimal limits, there are inspections for practically every assembly operation, such as the crank shaft and cam shaft bearing fit and alignment, the piston pin and piston fits, the clutch alignment and the valve seating.

But the inspection does not stop here. As soon as the motor has been assembled it is given the electric test that is, run by an electric motor at 1,200 revolutions per minute for from two to three hours. This test is to give the stiffness out of the new motor, work in the bearings, and piston rings to insure smooth operation.

After this has been completed, the motor is disassembled, washed and again thoroughly inspected. Then the motor is reassembled.

Again it is put on a test and run under its own power for approximately twenty minutes as a final check up.

The valves are "adjusted" the motor is "timed" and all final adjustments made. Then the motor is put through a steam bath to remove outside grease or oil, and painted with coat of lead paint, ready to be placed on the chassis.

NEW DEEP WATER PORT HELPS FORD DISTRIBUTE CARS

Detroit's position as a potential deep-water port has been given added impetus through the recent inauguration by the Ford Motor Company of all water shipments for export.

Steamers are now being loaded at the big River Rouge Plant of the Company and are sent across the Great Lakes and through the Erie canal to the New York docks. There the cargoes are transferred to ocean-going vessels destined for European and South American cities in which Ford plants are located.

Two steamers are being used by the company to carry all water export shipments for the remainder of the present navigation season on the Lakes, one steamer leaving every week.

The first steamer to sail from the Rouge plant with an export cargo left the dock September 15th carrying a 700-ton cargo for six European and South American destinations. The other followed with a cargo of nearly 600 tons. Other shipments, however, will run 1200 tons the limit for boats navigating through the Erie canal.

Cargoes are made up of body parts, motors and various other parts used in the assembling of Ford cars and trucks. Fully assembled Fordson Tractors also are included.

Plans under consideration for next spring contemplate a much more extensive use of the boats carrying export shipments to New York. The steamers have a capacity much in excess of the 1200-ton limit permitted to utilize the Erie canal and it is planned to utilize the full capacity.

Water transportation, effecting new economies, is now playing an important part in the Ford organization activities. In addition to the boats chartered to handle all water export shipments the company is operating a fleet of four ships of its own in the transportation of Ford ore and lumber to the River Rouge plant and of coal to Northern Michigan points.

BATTERY LIKE CAR WEAR WITH USE

Willard Batteries Have Lasted Ten Years in Some Cases, Quality Counts

One of the most frequent queries the service station man receives, and a lot of them are propounded to him every day by perplexed motorists—is "How long will a battery last?"

"To ask such a question is just like asking the doctor how long you will live," states Mr. Schneider, local Willard dealer. "He would tell you if you ate simply got plenty of sleep and exercise and did a lot of other things, you might live to a ripe old age, barring accidents and provided there was nothing organically wrong. In other words, the specialist on the human body, the expert whose job it is to make and keep people healthy could not answer your question definitely."

"But by this I do not mean that a motorist has no guide to battery value. Quite the contrary. As a matter of fact there are four things that determine battery life. They are, use, type, care and the quality of the battery itself."

"The first three factors are wholly dependent on the individual use of the battery."

A car owner who drives 10,000 miles a year certainly takes more out of his battery than one who drives 5,000 miles. Just as a pedestrian who walks a great deal wears out his shoes faster than one who spends most of his day at a desk.

"The driver who starts and stops frequently with short runs in between or who uses his lights to excess is not recharging his battery nearly so fast as he is discharging it."

"Quality of course may or may not be put into a battery by a manufacturer. Standard batteries built by well known manufacturers must be quality batteries or those manufacturers could not long exist. The car owner public is not long fooled as to product."

HUDSON AND ESSEX PRICES REDUCED

Telegrams Received This Morning by J. T. McCann Company

Important telegram received this morning by J. T. McCann company. Effective midnight October 23rd list price Essex coach reduced fifty five dollars and Hudson coach reduced one hundred and five dollars. Other models not changed.

This reduction in price is brought about through the wonderful purchasing power of the Hudson and Essex Motor Car company and their great efficiency and economy in manufacture.

This price reduction came to us entirely unexpected and in view of the fact that nearly every other motor company has raised their prices in the last few weeks, it shows the wonderful position the Hudson and Essex factory is in.

Hudson an Essex sold twelve per cent of all automobiles in this state during the month of September.

BUICK FOUR WHEEL ASSURE YOUR SAFETY

The assurance that Buick four-wheel brakes give to the driver has added much to the pleasure of motorizing. They have successfully met every test of thousands of owners who now consider them indispensable. This feature, too, is one that is particularly appreciated by women drivers.

It gives them confidence when driving in city traffic or on long tours.

Mrs. R. W. Davout, Marion, Ohio, writes: "Having no man along on my trip from Marion, Ohio, to Roanoke, Virginia, naturally I felt a little dubious about going over the mountains, having visions of all sorts of trouble with my new Buick, and wondering too, how the four-wheel brakes would work. The next trip holds no fear for me, however, for I could trust the Buick and I had every opportunity to try them out thoroughly on the trip."

"We reached home after a very enjoyable trip and I am more pleased than ever with Buick."

CHINA VERSED IN AMERICAN SLANG

Wuchang, China — A nation wide athletic meet has just been held here which had all the characteristics of a similar meet in any college town in America. The manner in which the athletes went at their jobs, and the comments on their performances, were essentially American.

Cries of "Come on, boy; you can beat him!" "Shoot, shoot," "Stick it, kid; wipe that butter off your fingers," and others of a similar nature were frequently heard from the spectators' benches and from the roosters on the side lines. Real sportsmanship was in evidence for the most part, and there was little or no playing that was unnecessarily tough.

There was baseball, soccer, volleyball, tennis and basketball in addition to the field sports, and a detachment of Boy Scouts, who had their own camp and lived in tents during the three days of the meet. The Scouts equipped a first aid tent and a field telephone which was employed in reporting results from various parts of the grounds.

The girls' basketball and volley ball games, being a decided innovation in North China, attracted many spectators and elicited much favorable comment.

It was estimated that more than 15,000 persons were present.

OLDSMOBILE SALES CONTINUING BRISK

Orders on Hand Indicate That October Business Will Be Very Good

Business throughout the country is on the upward trend if the sale of Oldsmobiles is any criterion. During the month of September more Oldsmobiles were sold than during any previous month since April this year when practically 5,000 cars were placed in the hands of owners, according to figures announced this week by the Olds Motor Works, Lansing, Michigan. Orders on hand indicate that October will show a still higher record.

A substantial increase in sales is noted in the agricultural districts, an analysis of September Oldsmobile business shows, although a gain is registered in every section of the country, both urban and rural. This betterment in the ailing communities reflects the improvement of financial condition of the farmer.

During the month just ended the factory shipped to dealers slightly under 5,000 cars. Due to the new manufacturing schedule system employed by Olds, this represents about the number of retail sales. This new manufacturing and sales plan requires ten day reports from dealers as to the number of cars they have on hand, together with estimates on future business. In this manner the factory is enabled to regulate shipments to dealers and prevent them from becoming overstocked in fast shipments are kept in line with retail sales.

EXAMINERS DIG DEEP INTO LAND AGENT'S AFFAIRS

Misrepresentation Is Charged In Complaint Against P. A. Kornely

The hearing called by the Wisconsin Real Estate Board on complaints asking revocation of the real estate broker's license of P. A. Kornely, Appleton, continued in the courthouse until a late hour Wednesday evening.

Exhaustive testimony was taken on the basis of both complaints, those of Agatha Wndi and Edward and Margaret Beckman, who charge the Appleton real estate man with irregularities in his business dealings with them.

Mrs. Wndi complaint was that she is now reduced to the point of accepting aid from the city of Appleton because she cannot dispose of stock which she obtained through Kornely. She had placed $1,500 with him on June 29, 1915, to be invested in a western mortgage. Both interest and taxes became delinquent during the years of 1921, 1922 and 1923, it was asserted. Mrs. Wndi said that in 1923 she was induced by Kornely and a representative of the Twin City Land company, Minneapolis, to assign the mortgage to that company in exchange for five shares of Class A stock in the company with a par value of $100 each. The exact value of the real estate on which the mortgage was held, was $225, according to an appraisal made by the Twin City Land company. It was alleged.

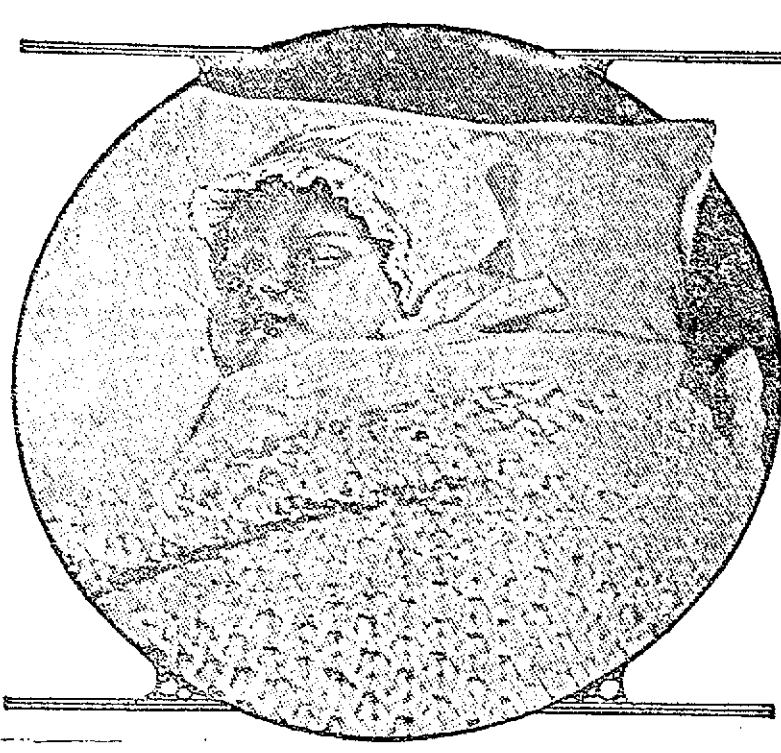

NO MARKET HERE

Prior to June 29, 1915, the complainant desired to place the loan on some property in Outagamie-co, but was informed that there was no demand for loans in the country, but that western mortgages were considered first class, it was alleged. She said she was told that she could secure her money at any time at any place, but as a result of the deal she now holds five shares valued at $500, which are non-salable and practically worthless, she said.

The Beckman complaint and testimony was based upon a suit last year. They charge Kornely with misrepresentation on the following points: That the Appleton realtor said he owned a hotel in Brillion, which the Beckmans desired to buy in exchange for their farm, and that he, Kornely, would take a land contract on the Beckman farm. They maintained, however, that Kornely owned no interest in the hotel, but that it belonged to W. A. Holtz and that one Emily Lietz owned the land contract on the property and that the land contract was in process of foreclosure.

The complainants declared that on July 14, 1923 they went with Kornely and G. J. Brandt to Brillion to look over the hotel which they, the Beckmans, desired in exchange for their farm in Center. The same day a land contract was made in which Kornely agreed to give a land contract on the Globe hotel for a contract on it.

ENGLAND'S NEW ROYALTY.

ZR-3 BROUGHT 3 PIECES OF MAIL TO APPLETON

Three pieces of mail matter found their way from Germany to Appleton via the air route. The letters were a part of the mail bags carried by the ZR-3 which made a non-stop flight across the Atlantic ocean last week. It was evident that this novel form of communicating with friends and relatives in this country was advertised some weeks in advance of the voyage. Some of them had been posted weeks ago. The letters were variously marked "Per Luftschiff," (Via Airship), "ZR-3," and otherwise.

the Beckman farm, it was testified. Each party signed a promissory note for $1,000 to bind the agreement.

On July 18, 1923, at the Kornely office the land contract on the hotel was assigned from Emily Lietz to the complainants, while the complainants turned over to Kornely the land contract on their farm. The complainants gave Kornely a bill of sale of all personal property owned by them and valued at $4,000. Thereupon Kornely demanded of G. J. Brandt the $1,000 note, executed by himself on July 14, and destroyed the note. The other notes, it was alleged, was not turned over to the Beckmans until after they started a replevin action to regain it. Holtz, the owner told the complainants he would refuse to deliver possession of the hotel on Aug. 1, 1923, unless $900 due him on the land contract were paid. Beckman then refused to deliver possession of their personal property to Kornely, but the agent brought replevin action against them to recover it.

FLOWER GARDENERS LOSE HEAVILY FROM HIGH WATER

High water and numerous rains this year caused considerable damage to greenhouse owners and flower gardeners throughout the state according to Miles Meldam, proprietor of the Junction Greenhouse Gardeners who had heavy investments of carnations were particularly heavy losers.

Carnations usually are grown in low places and consequently often were underwater and were washed out or affected by rot. Those affected by rot look like for use but are unstable and fall apart at the touch.

Losses have been especially great at Fond du Lac where one investor said that he had lost over $1,000 worth of carnations in this manner.

ZIEGLER WILL ATTEND FRATERNAL CONGRESS

G. D. Ziegler, president of the AAF Association for Lutherans, will go to Des Moines, Iowa, next week to attend the Iowa Fraternal congress Oct. 28 and 29 at Savary hotel. The aid association is a member of the congress. Consideration will be given to changes in the Iowa insurance laws so fraternal companies will be permitted to write Iowa endowment policies. Laws to this effect were enacted recently in Illinois and Minnesota, largely through work of the Appleton association.

PAVING PROGRAM NEARLY FINISHED

Good Weather in October Enables Contractors to Complete Projects

The Wisconsin Highway commission has completed 219.74 of its scheduled $32.81 miles of concrete paving for the year 1924, according to a report of H. J. Kuelling, state construction engineer, just received here. When the season began, paving programs throughout the state called for projects totalling 282.81 miles and the amount already completed represents 77.7 per cent of this total.

Ideal weather during October will probably bring the percentage for the year to 90 per cent—a mark that seemed impossible two months ago, according to Mr. Kuelling.

Division 3, O. C. Rollman, chief engineer, with headquarters in Green Bay, has completed 88.29 miles of its scheduled 50 miles of paving, according to the report.

Division 1 has completed 69.37 miles of 70.8 per cent of its scheduled 50 miles of paving, according to the report.

Division 1 has completed 69.37 miles of 70.8 per cent of its scheduled 100.95 miles. Division 2 has the best percentage of any division doing a large amount of work, having completed 81.03 miles or 85.1 per cent of its scheduled 106.95 miles. Division 4, with 23.89 miles to be paved when the season opened, has completed

EXPECT SURVEY OF FLOODS ALONG WOLF

Engineers Probably Will Not Make Report Until February, 1925

The probability of a survey of flood conditions to determine the advisability of the proposed Shiocton-Duck Creek cutoff canal depends upon the report of the United States government engineers on the three preliminary hearings held in Appleton, Shiocton and Duck Creek recently, and upon other findings of the engineers.

Gilbert Van B. Wilkes, of the engineering office, under whose direction the hearings were held, will make a direct report to the war department at Washington. It is understood, however, that his report will not be made immediately, but will be held open until Feb. 1, 1925.

It is asserted by riparians, particularly by members of the Association

17.48 or 74.9 per cent. Division 6, has completed two miles of the 2.28 scheduled for it, the accomplishment being 37.7 per cent of the program. Division 6 was scheduled to build 1.67 miles of concrete and has completed all of this, the report states.

tion for the Relief of High Water that the proposed Shiocton-Duck Creek cutoff would benefit 150,000 acres of land in the region between Shawano and the head of Poygan lake which frequently are damaged during the high water periods in spring. The canal would be approximately 80 miles long and would be expected to take care of the peak of the high water. Its cost has been variously estimated at between $500,000 and $1,000,000.

G. A. R. MONUMENT CONTRACT PLACED BY LEGION POST

Stone on Burial Plot Is to Be in Place for Unveiling on Memorial Day

By Memorial day of 1925 the Grand Army of the Republic will have a monument on its burial plot at a Riverside cemetery to perpetuate the memory of the veterans of the Civil War. The order for the stone has been placed by Oney Johnston post of the American legion with the firm of Schroeder & Lueders, and it is to be delivered late in the spring.

Legionnaires voted sometime ago to sponsor a public campaign with which to provide the monument which the aged veterans were desirous of having placed on the grounds where they have gathered annually to pay respect to their deceased comrades. Public subscriptions in small amounts from men, women and children alike will be taken up next spring to pay for the shaft.

Specifications for the monument were prepared in accordance with the wishes of the G. A. R. post. They provide for a square monument of dark granite. It will have a base 18 inches high and 6 feet square. The top stone will be four feet square and the monument as a whole will stand more than six feet high.

Each side of the top stone will have this lettering carved on the granite: "G. A. R., Eggleston Post, G. A. R., 1861-1865." The main inscription will be in letters seven inches high. Dedication and unveiling ceremonies will be arranged for Memorial day 1925 and will be the chief feature of the exercises that day.

BUSINESS CLASSES SHOW MORE SPEED

Work which took half a year to complete last year is being finished in ten weeks this year in the commercial department of Appleton vocational school. This is due partly to the fact that much home work and outside study is being carried on by the students this year, according to Mrs. Bertha Berry, instructor in the department. Other things which increase the efficiency of the department are its strict requirements. Pupils must be grade graduates and if they are unable to keep up with the work they are dropped.

There are 49 students in the night school classes, which meet Tuesday and Thursday evenings for shorthand and typewriting and Friday evening for typewriting only, all that possibly can be handled. They are obliged to work in one-half hour shifts because of the shortage of equipment.

Half time day school students have classes daily which include bookkeeping as well as shorthand and typewriting. Many of them enjoy the work so well that they spend part of their lunch hour on their books. Classes are held one day a week for the part time students, a different group meeting each day of the week. Their work consists of shorthand, typewriting, bookkeeping, commercial geography, salesmanship, commercial law and rapid calculation. They also are taught to use the hectograph, mimeograph and adding machine.

Rubbish Starts Burning
Firemen Friday morning responded to an alarm to extinguish a blaze which had broken out in a dumping ground at the rear of the August Brandt company garage, College-ave and Superior-sts, where rubbish and old rags were burning.

Delicious Cake Recipes Demonstrated To Women At Post-Crescent School

Every day the number of women who attend the cooking school conducted by the Post-Crescent in cooperation with the Corn Products Refining company of Chicago grows, indicating that though women may insist on equal rights and talk about doing men's work, their chief interest lies in the home.

Thursday afternoon's session was attended by 206 women. Cake baking was Thursday's subject and the lecturer, Mrs. Margaret E. Brown, gave a history of cake making and baked several cakes to demonstrate her recipes. Mrs. Brown told the women that in feudal times banquets were heavy and rich with meats, cakes, puddings and such things and that vegetables were seldom used.

"In the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries," said Mrs. Brown, "very rich cakes were made and the recipes for them make interesting reading, although a housewife would throw up her hands in horror if she had to bake a cake by any of them."

Besides securing new recipes and advice, women who attended the school had an opportunity to inspect new household appliances on display through the courtesy of Appleton merchants, and to see a table that was properly arranged with china, glass, ware, silver and linen. The household appliances included one of the newest types of washers, a stove, ice box and garbage inclinator.

Recipe books were given to all women who attended the class Thursday afternoon. They also were given instructions regarding the cake contests. All cakes were to be in by 2 o'clock Friday afternoon and valuable prizes were awarded the winners after the class Friday afternoon.

Here are the recipes Mrs. Brown gave the women Thursday afternoon:

Delicious White Cake
2-3 cups pastry flour.
1 teaspoon salt.
4 teaspoons baking powder.
1 1/2 cups sugar.
1 cup water.
2-3 cup mazola.
1/2 teaspoon lemon flavoring.
1/2 teaspoon vanilla flavoring.
6 eggs whites.
Sift dry ingredients, add water, mazola and flavoring. Stir until smooth batter is formed. Beat egg whites foamy and add teaspoon cream of tartar. Beat stiff and fold light but thoroughly into batter. Bake 50 minutes in very moderate oven.

Plain Gold Cake
1-1 1/2 cups pastry flour.
1/2 cup sugar.
1/2 teaspoon salt.
2 teaspoons baking powder.
Sift all together and add:
1/2 cup water.
1-3 cup mazola.
1/2 teaspoon vanilla.
1/2 teaspoon orange.
2 egg yolks.

Stir until smooth batter is formed and beat two egg whites and add 1/2 teaspoon cream of tartar. Beat stiff and fold into batter. Bake 25 minutes in very moderate oven.

You may use 4 egg whites instead of two whole eggs and it will give you a plain white cake.

Devil's Food
Filling to be added to cake batter:
1/2 cup brown sugar.
1/2 cup milk.
2 tablespoons cocoa.
Cook until thick like cream; when cool add 1 teaspoon soda.
1 cup brown sugar.

6 tablespoons mazola.
2 whole eggs.
2 cups pastry flour.
1 teaspoon salt.

1 1/2 tablespoons mazola.
1/2 teaspoon flavoring.
3 drops vegetable coloring.

Enough cream to make paste that will spread.

Pineapple Icing
1/2 cup grated pineapple, drained from the juice.
3 cups powdered sugar.
1 teaspoon lemon juice.

Chocolate Filling
2 squares chocolate.
1 cup powdered sugar.
1/2 cup milk.
1 egg yolk.
1 teaspoon vanilla.

Mix chocolate, milk and half of sugar. Place in a double boiler until chocolate melts. Add rest of sugar to the egg yolk and combine with other ingredients. Cook until thick and smooth.

Cocoanut Drop Cakes
1/2 cup sugar.
1 egg.
1/2 cup mazola.
1/2 teaspoon lemon flavoring.

3 teaspoons baking powder.
1/2 teaspoon salt.
Drop on buttered tins and bake 10 to 12 minutes.

Uncooked Cake Icing
3 egg whites.
1 1/2 cups confectioner's sugar.
Beat whites until they will leave the sides of the pan. Add 1/2 cup of sugar and beat well.
Add remainder of sugar gradually. Add gradually 7 drops of lemon juice.
Note: To determine when enough sugar is used a knife when cut through the mixture should come out dry.

Orange Filling
4 egg yolks.
1/2 cup sugar.
Juice and rind of one lemon.
5 tablespoons orange juice.
Cook five minutes. Cool and use between layers of cake.

Orange Icing
Grated rind of one orange.

Sift all together and add:

Autos Must Stop At All Alley Exits

(This article is the sixth of a series explaining the city's new traffic ordinance. It deals with the section concerning stopping of automobiles.)

If the new Appleton traffic ordinance is enforced to the letter pedestrians no longer will be endangered by automobiles darting suddenly out of alleys and onto the sidewalk. One clause under section three places the intersection of alley and street in exactly the same situation as an arterial corner and drivers must treat the alley exit as though an arterial sign were placed there.

This rule is plainly put, for it reads: "All vehicles shall be brought to a stop immediately before leaving any alley."

There are several other stipulations concerning the stopping of cars or the forbidding of stops. No automobile is allowed to stop to take on or discharge passengers or to load or unload freight in such a way as to obstruct any street crossing.

Cars also are not allowed to cross over and stop at the left hand side of the street, as the law says they must halt "close to the curb line at the right hand side of the street in the direction said vehicle is proceeding." They also cannot stop in the middle of the roadway unless in a traffic emergency, to protect pedestrians, or at arterial corners or when street cars are discharging or taking on passengers.

The city also has provided for punishment of those who do not stop at College-ave and Oneida-st when traffic signal lights so instruct or when arterial signs are placed. These re-

ONE NEW WILL UP FOR ADMISSION TO PROBATE

The will of the late Joseph Heckel was scheduled for probate in the special term of county court which was opened by Judge Fred V. Heinenmann Tuesday morning. Claims against the estate of Frank Konrad and Mary A. Helf and preferred claims against the estate of William E. Jansen were to be heard. Final account is to be rendered in the estates of Mary Eliza Merritt and Charlotte Laudon. Two petitions, one for administration of the estate of Michael Henter, and one to determine the descent of land in the estate of John Dick, Sr., were scheduled for hearing.

Requirements are made part of the ordinance. Repairing of cars while parked on the streets also is prohibited except in cases of injury or disablement, and then as soon as practicable. The former rule that no motor vehicle shall be left standing on any street with any part of the machinery running also is incorporated in the new law.

APPLETON HIGH ALL SET TO BATTLE LACROSSE

Orange Gridders End Week Of Hard Drills For Saturday Contest

Courtney and Frazer Recover from Injuries and Will Start as Ends in Hardest Tilt of Season

Appleton high school gridders Friday afternoon were going through their final workout before the contest with La Crosse Saturday. And were in excellent shape for the fray. With Courtney back on the job after a week's rest, and Frazer's hand fully recovered, the end positions have ceased to worry Coach Kevin, and the rest of the squad was going strong.

In Courtney and Stammer the Orange has a brace of triple threat men, able to run, pass or kick with equal facility, while Bieler at center has been breaking the hostile line wide open. The lack of center discipline in the first game at Sheboygan has disappeared entirely, and in their last two games the Appleton youngsters made quite a showing. Kevin has redoubled his workouts since last week in preparation for the La Crosse contest, because the invaders are looked upon as the toughest team on the Appleton schedule.

Special tactics have come in for a big share of the drill periods, but football probably will be the main method of attack Saturday afternoon. The La Crosse backfield is said to be considerably heavier than Appleton's, but the line had no great advantage in this respect. La Crosse high school is considerably larger than Appleton high, and more than 100 candidates turned out for football this season. This gives La Crosse a big handicap, but Coach Kevin was confident his youngsters would score another victory.

MAKE GOOD SHOWING

The Appleton youngsters scrimmaged the Lawrence freshmen Wednesday afternoon and although they were outweighted hopelessly, they made a fair showing. Kevin believes that his team has the chief requirements of a squad, and has been drilling this principle into the ears of his charges for weeks with the result that they give their best in every game. They will need all they have against La Crosse, if reports from that city are not exaggerated.

Frazer and Courtney will start as ends Saturday afternoon. Rookie positions will be held out for foot ball and center. Johnson and Ashman have been working as guards all week and probably will start in those positions, while Bieler is slated to go in at center. Bowler, midjet quarter who distinguished himself by a 55-yard run for a touchdown Saturday against Manitowish, will be back on the job, with Stammer, Reetz and Wenzel in the backfield. Probably Kevin will give most of his subs a chance to get into the game to spare the regulars as much as possible.

The game will start at 2:30 on Lawrence field.

Vance Once Valued At 50 Dollars

New York—Manager John McGraw of the New York Giants says he would willingly part with $100,000 for Dazzy Vance.

Charles Ebbetts, owner of the Brooklyn club, says twice that amount wouldn't tempt him for his star pitcher, the sensation of the majors in the season just closed.

These seemingly fabulous amounts being offered for a ball player makes the original sale of the now famous Vance loom up as the one best laugh of the day.

Ten years ago Vance was playing with the Superior club in the Nebraska State League. He was just a so-so pitcher.

At that time Hastings, the home of Vance was in the same league. He decided it would be nice to play in the old home town. When he asked the manager of the Hastings club what he was worth the reply was: "If some one offered me $50 in real money they could have you."

Vance peeled five tens from his bank roll and joined the Hastings club.

Originally sold for $50, his present employer isn't interested in an offer of $100,000 for his services.

Blue Harriers Race In First Tryout Event

Lawrence cross country runners have been out for several weeks and Friday afternoon were held for their first tryouts of the year. They were to run over the regular tri-mile course starting from the fire of the Carnegie library and finishing on Lawrence field.

Fifteen men are out this year many of them veterans of one or two seasons. Sorenson, a freshman, who came to Lawrence from Janesville high school where he held several records as a distance runner, is one of the older men a hard runner and is expected to finish up among the leaders. Burk and Lachman will show up well but have been leading the field in practice runs this season and probably will finish neck and neck.

The men went through an easy work out Thursday afternoon in preparation for their tryout.

BIG TEN GRIDDERS MIGRATE TO ENEMY FIELDS FOR GAMES

Chicago Invades Columbus to Engage Ohio State in Heavy Combat

Chicago — Hopes and fears of their supporters followed three western conference teams Friday as they migrated into the halliwicks of the enemy. Speculation and prediction too, were life for the futures of leading Big Ten contenders hinged on the outcome.

Chicago went to Columbus as the guest of Ohio State, determined to add to its prestige as the leading dis putant of Illinois' title claims at the expense of the Buckeyes. Ohio was equally anxious to preserve its "hitless wonder" record of not having been scored upon this season. Both squads were in excellent condition.

Minnesota, enroute to Iowa City to engage Iowa, halted at Cedar Rapids for a final workout. The squad was steeped in gloom as a result of only slight improvement during the week's training and injuries to the regulars. Iowa's bag of tricks was swelled with new aerial plays at penultimate sessions and the Hawkeyes hoped to advance their standing, so far marked on the cards.

At Jackson, Mich., the Ann Arbor-bound Wisconsin Badgers paused for practice Friday to complete preparations for Michigan Saturday. The Badger squad was virtually the same which played Minnesota to a tie. Coach Yost reorganized Michigan eleven, presented a fighting front but back, presented a fighting front but doubt was expressed if the new plays would work well in view of the changes.

Northwestern ended its arrangements for the Michigan Aggies who arrive in Evanston in time for a workout Friday. While the game had no bearing on the Big Ten standing of the purple it was expected to indicate what improvement had been made since Purdue's victory over Northwestern last week.

At Illinois, invaded by De Pauw, interest centered on performances of other conference teams yet to engage the Illini. Iowa, next opponent of Illinois, was given particular attention.

Purdue and Indiana, not scheduled this week, planned practice games with teams of reserves and fresh Saturday.

WHITE SOX DEFEAT GIANTS IN ENGLAND

Liverpool — A crowd of more than 2,500 Thursday witnessed the opening European exhibition game between the Chicago White Sox and the New York Giants. The Sox won, 16 to 11.

The game was played at the Everton football grounds.

This is the way a British press agency described the game:

"Many who had not previously witnessed a ball game were astounded by the prodigious hitting of the American batsmen, the ball frequently falling into the stand. The play was exceedingly fast but the smart fielding of the Chicago side was the downfall of the New Yorkers.

Sox, playing at left field, made some wonderful catches in the outfield. On one occasion he had to lean over the barrier in an attempt to hold the ball.

"Ruel was the outstanding batsman. He often drove the ball among the spectators in the stands. Kamm, at right field also played a fine game, while Robertson was the best of the pitchers."

The score by innings:

Giants	100	131	113	—11
White Sox	910	904	800	—16

Lefty Groves Costs Orioles Record Price

Baltimore, Md.—Robert M. (Lefty) Groves, the Baltimore International League's pitching ace was sold to the Philadelphia American League club Thursday for a sum announced by the National League as $250,000.

This sum tops the $190,000 record sum paid for the New York Yankees to the Boston Red Sox for Babe Ruth.

MOORE HELPS PIRATES

Moore, who was used in the outfield during the first end of the season because of his hitting, came to the Pittsburgh club as an infielder. Earlier in the campaign he did great work in place of Travers at third.

HEAVY BAT NO HELP

Outfielder Ken Williams of the St. Louis Browns used a much heavier bat than usual the past season with hope of increasing his homerun total but failed to get results.

OUR CAPITAL CITY WAITED A QUARTER OF A CENTURY FOR A PENNANT WINNER

THAT'S BEEN WAITING A THUNDREYEARS AND MORE FOR A VOTE AND HAVEN'T GOT IT YET. WHAT THEY NEED IS RUCKY HARRIS IN CONGRESS.

England seems to have as hard a time developing a government that will stick as in producing a heavy weight capable of staying off the floor.

People who oppose capital punishment will change their minds if they catch the guy who invented crossword puzzles.

One thing you can say for Walter Johnson. He produced more tears in the world series than any tragedian we know of.

A FIVE FOOT GIRL BEAT UP A SIX-FOOT NEW YORK PRESS

Perfect "Stiff Arm"

No football player will ever be a great ball carrier until he has mastered the art of stiffarming. This consists in straightening out your right or left arm suddenly and bowling over a would-be tackler. In the above picture Norman Cleveland of the Leland Stanford University gives an excellent demonstration of the stiff arm. Incidentally Cleveland was a member of the U. S. rugby team which competed in the Olympics.

Martin Seeks Fresh Chance To Come Back

New York — Bob Martin wants to come back. Martin is the Virginia youth who won the heavyweight championship of the A. E. F., turned professional, and enjoyed fair success mingling with second raters.

Martin sustained a slight concussion of the brain about 18 months ago, and was finally forced to retire from the ring. At first Martin suspected the trouble centered in his eyes but when treatment designed to better his vision failed the soldier fighter submitted to a thorough examination. It was then revealed that he had been injured about the head by some heavy blow received in the ring.

Martin retired following a pathetic exhibition against Martin Burke in New Orleans, the aftermath of which was an official ruling by Louisiana ring commissioners barring him from future participation in the ring.

Martin went back to his home in Virginia, joined the state police as a mounted officer and started out to regain his health by activity in the open air.

Martin now is of the opinion that he is his old self again and has written Harry Brown his former manager to get him a fight here. Brown is hoping Martin is all right again but will not match him with any one until positively assured by physicians that the A. E. F. hero is fully recovered.

Martin's most noteworthy performance in the ring was against the late Bill Brennan. Martin did not get the decision but experts were unanimous he deserved it.

It is to the credit of Wales that while visiting Chicago, he refrained from insisting on looping the loop.

Jack Dempsey and Walter Johnson may buy a ball club and thus combine the knockout and the strikeout.

Henry Ford says he doesn't want Muscle Shoals now. Maybe he's heard the dern thing developed a charley horse.

Who remembers the good old days when John J. McGraw was known as the master mind of baseball?

It is too early yet to say with accuracy how many teams in the country are good enough to beat the Big Three, which are, as you know, the best teams in the country.

CARR AND PINDLE SEEK CUE RIVALS

Three-cushion Stars Offer Handicap Pending Regular Contests

Pending arrangements for an Inter city 3 cushion billiard tournament in which Gene Carr and Harold Pindle of this city plan to lock horns with a pair of stars from other cities in the Fox River valley, Carr has posted a standing offer of prizes for any two cue artists who can score 80 points while he and Pindle pile up 120. Carr is one of the most experienced veterans in this part of the state and is able to hold his own with the best of them. Pindle several years ago won the state pocket billiard championship, winning match after match with Carr as his partner and also on his own.

These two Appleton area plan to map out an extensive schedule this season, but are finding it difficult to arrange matches so early in the year.

A Colorado woman, voiceless for four years, recovered her speech in an auto accident, and her husband immediately put up the victrola and radio for sale.

There might be some argument as to who is the greatest third baseman, but Miller of the Nats, in his world series work, certainly made it easy to pick the worst.

DEATH OF BADGER GRID VETERAN IS BLOW TO HIS SQUAD

Herbert C. Opitz Is Electrocuted in University Laboratory Thursday

Madison—The Wisconsin football squad, 27 strong, was off Friday for another lap in the 1924 conference season, its hopes for victory over Michigan at Ann Arbor somewhat blighted by the loss of Herbert C. Opitz, regular member of the squad, who was electrocuted while working in the university electrical laboratory Thursday.

The incident has had an unfavorable effect upon the Badger squad and may prevent an aggressive attack upon the Wolverines.

Coach Ryan and his team left Madison late Thursday and Friday will have a light workout at Jackson, Mich., before approaching the Michigan stronghold Saturday morning. The squad went through a light workout at Randall field Thursday afternoon before departing.

The fight which Badger coaches have striven to instill in the team during the last two weeks and which accounted for much of the showing against Minnesota last Saturday, was somewhat lacking in the last workout. A large group of students gave the team a rousing sendoff and probably 500 will be on hand for the fray.

Wisconsin will have one of the foremost motives in the contest Saturday—to avenge the 6 to 3 defeat at the hands of Michigan in a hard fought game last year. The game attracted wide attention because of the disputed decision of Referee Eckersall, which resulted in the lone Michigan touchdown and defeat for the Badgers. Rockwell, who made the touchdown, will be against the Badgers again Saturday.

Only twice in the ten contests have the Badgers defeated the Wolverines records show. These victories were long ago—1893 and 1899. One game has been tied in 1921, and Michigan has won seven. Only since 1921 have the two teams met regularly. In 1921 the score was a tie, 7 to 7, and in 1922, Michigan won 13 to 7.

LAWRENCE NET STARS OPPOSE FACULTY MEN

Faculty and student champions of Lawrence Friday afternoon were all set to clash in a tennis tourney to determine which of the two has the edge. Nesbit, champion of the school, was matched with Powers; Kratz, a newcomer of great promise, was pitted against Mudhenko, a faculty ace. LaBord, another freshman who made his mark in the college championship tournament, was due to lock horns with Klippinger, and Anderson, also a leader among the students, was matched with Dyson.

Two of the matches were to be played off on the Lawrence courts and the other two on the Y. M. C. A. grounds.

Pittsburg — Larry Goldberg, New York heavyweight, won a decision over Eddie Bowen of Sharon in ten rounds.

Bush Plans To Stick In Game On His Hitting

New York — Joe Bush, star pitcher of the New York Americans, doesn't intend to retire from the majors when his twirling days are over.

No indeed! Joe plans to spend about five more years in the big show after he loses his ability to mystify the opposing batters.

A natural hitter, Bush of late years has given much attention to the batting end of the game. He has improved to such an extent that he is now regarded as one of the most dangerous hitters in the American League.

For several years he has done pinch hitting roles for the Yankees aside from pitching. When Miller Huggins needs a right handed hitter in a pinch, Bush invariably gets the call.

On the days when it was not his turn to pitch, Bush has spent much time chasing fly balls and has become a very proficient fielder.

"Joe Wood, a great pitcher in his day, hung on for many years after he was through as a twirler because he could play the outfield and hit," says Bush, "and I intend to follow in his footsteps."

Britishers Will Tour Our Links

Cleveland, O.—Friends here today received definite assurance that Abe Mitchell and George Duncan, noted British professionals, would visit America again this winter.

According to their letters, Mitchell and Duncan will arrive in November and will tour the southern resort cities and journey out to the coast to compete in the California open annual championship which is gradually becoming a classic.

Mitchell is known as the longest driver in England, while Duncan is famed for his meteoric outbursts of golf. The two make a very formidable as well as colorful combination.

Duncan and Mitchell are no strangers to America. Golfers here have seen them in action on two previous occasions and both times the visitors proved fully capable of giving America's leading professionals quite a time of it.

Winter golf tours by visiting professionals is something of a novelty. It was tried last winter for the first time by Arthur Havers and his playing partner, Orkenden, and was a success financially, which is the only thing that interests the boys.

Special Train Will Carry Lawrence Team On Invasion Of Ripon

Catlin Will Take 35 Candidates on Trip Saturday and Crowds of Boosters Plan to Accompany Them

Lawrence will have plenty of support when the Blue grid squads journey to Ripon Saturday for their fourth football contest of the season. A special train has been chartered and a large percentage of the student body will accompany the gliders poked to invade the Cardinal city. More than 5 men have been chosen to accompany Mark Catlin on the trip, and hosts of old grads plan to see the game also, despite the fact that Lawrence is doped as an easy winner.

The loss of four regulars was a blow to the Lawrence squad. St. Norbert's are out because of injuries while Olsson and Cooke are barred from all Little Five games under the nine-semester ruling. Catlin has been working Boettcher as an end this week, with Holdridge as his mate, while Hipke, who had his first tryout at center in the Iowa game, was stationed in Olsson's place at center. The positions are well filled, but the changes have weakened the team nevertheless.

EVENLY MATCHED
As far as weight is concerned, Ripon and Lawrence are quite evenly matched. The Cardinal line averages slightly more than 185 pounds while the backfield is said to be heavier in all other respects the Blues have the advantage. Ripon and Lawrence both have met Northwestern and St. Norberts. Ripon defeated the Lutherans, 15 to 0, while Lawrence swamped them, 55 to 0, and St. Norberts shut out the Cardinals, 6 to 0 and bowed to Lawrence, 28 to 0.

The Saturday game will be the main feature of Ripon's homecoming, and according to a statement from the Cardinal camp, they are expecting to repeat their performance of 1892 when they swamped the Blues, 80 to 0. Probable starting lineups will be as follows:

Lawrence
L. E. Boettcher, Christofferson L. E.
L. T. Dunham, Hauser L. T.
L. G. Counsell, LaValle L. G.
C. Hipke, Ure C.
R. G. Schild, Gauthier R. G.
T. Stark, Stamm T.
R. H. Holdridge, Glenn R. H.
C. B. Kotal, Murray C. B.

DAVIS IS GAINING IN DIGEST'S POLL

Davis has almost overtaken LaFollette in this week's returns of The Literary Digest's nation-wide presidential poll, which are released today. Besides increasing his popular vote the Democratic candidate has gained ascendancy in Kentucky by the week's tabulations which gives him leadership in twelve states.

Coolidge has 1,293,378 votes, Davis 487,782; and LaFollette, 236,694 of the 2,300,484 ballots now recorded. Davis has brought down LaFollette's lead over him from 48,455 last week, to 3,224 this week, a gain of over 40,000. President Coolidge has also increased his percentage of the popular vote a fraction. Senator LaFollette's share has declined over one per cent.

California and West Virginia continue in the doubtful column. LaFollette has a lead of about 9,000 votes of Coolidge in Wisconsin. Of the 74,125 votes cast the president has 29,659 and LaFollette has 38,902. Davis has polled 5,003 votes.

FIRPO REFUSES RICKARD'S PLAN

South American Declines to Sign With Romero or Godfrey as Opponent

New York—Luis Angel Firpo has balked at efforts of Tex Rickard to sign him for a match with Quintin Romero, the Chilean heavyweight, or George Godfrey, Philadelphia negro fighter.

The promoter wants to put on Firpo with either of these men at Madison Square garden the first week of December, but so far the Argentine, still involved in legal complication proceedings against him, has declined to sign articles.

Firpo indicated he still harbored resentment against Romero for the latter's alleged disparaging remarks last spring when Luis refused to meet the Chilean in South America. Firpo told Rickard's matchmaker he was disinclined to fight Romero on this account.

Whether his defeat by Wills is an influencing factor or not, Firpo intimated in opposing a Godfrey match that he was not eager for another mixed match.

Pending the outcome of government litigation, Firpo will make no definite plans, but if he is cleared of the charges against him, Rickard believes the temperamental South American will consent to terms for several matches during the winter here.

bate coach at the Oshkosh high school. Mr. Faville comes to Oshkosh with considerable experience, having been a member of the Appleton high school debate team when he was here and he was interested in debate work at Debut college.

The subject which will be debated on by competitive schools in the Fox River valley is "Resolved, that the provision of the Johnson bill excluding the Japanese should be repealed." The debates will be held next spring.

MARINE-PACKER GAME PROMISES SNAPPY ACTION

Minneapolis Pro Squad Has Two of Best Halfbacks in country, Claim

Green Bay—Sunday's game at Bellevue park between the Packers and Minneapolis Marines should prove to be football de luxe. The visitors from the Gopher state are coming here with an evenly balanced team, touched off with two of the best halfbacks in the country, Marty Norton and Eddie Novak.

However, Norton and Novak are not the only stars in the lineup. Quarterback Houle, who is playing his first year of pro football, showed last Sunday in the Ironwood game that his thinking cap is part of his gridiron equipment.

SAFE IRONWOOD SAFETY
The Marines were holding a 7 to 0 lead over Ironwood and the final period was on its last legs when Mason, the Ironwood bootsmith, got off a long punt, which bounded out of bounds on the Marines' two yard line.

There was about three minutes to go. Houle took his time calling signals and then stepped back as if to punt but instead purposely downed the ball behind the goal line, giving Ironwood two points and a safety. The ball was moved out to the 30 yard line and after two line crashes, time was called.

Houle played it safe and gave Ironwood two points rather than chancing a blocking kick which might have resulted in a touchdown for Ironwood. This is just an example of the smart football played by the Marines.

Dunn's crew is making use of the famous Minnesota shift and this offensive formation always gives the spectators a run for their money as they can see everything that is going on in the attack. It is understood that Christanson and Bell have returned to the Marines' lineup. These two players have been at Bessemer all season where they served as coaches and captain respectively.

LEWELLEN AND O'DONNELL OUT

The Packers are not to have a patched up battle front in Sunday's game as the hospital list is not clearing away as well as was expected. Lewellen will be out of the game for at least three weeks, while reports from St. Mary's hospital have it that Dick O'Donnell's injured knee is extremely slow in rounding into shape. Jab Murray is sure to start at end on Sunday in O'Donnell's place.

FAILS TO STAR ON GRID

Hills, Princeton's great weight thrower, is not so successful on the gridiron. He seems to have failed for the second time in making the varsity.

Another Firpo

JOSE GONZALEZ

From the Argentine comes another prizefighter, one Jose Gonzalez, welterweight, seeking American gold and glory.

Gonzalez is the pupil of Dr. August Duvante, discoverer of Firpo.

"Gonzalez is another Firpo, only smaller," says the good doctor.

From this it's hard to tell whether the visited is being knocked or boosted.

Philadelphia, Pa.—Renato Gardini, Italian wrestler, defeated Ivan, Brasoff, Russia, in the international heavy-weight wrestling tournament.

New York — Albert C. Cutler retained his national junior ballline billiard title at the conclusion of his 1,200 point match with Ary Bos, champion of Holland.

Heiderer Trains With Sarmiento, Benny Bass

Principals in Main Go of Oct. 23 Card Reputed to Be Fast and Looking for Decisive Outcome

Johnny Heiderer, Butternut Wildcat, who meets Cowley of Chicago here in the main go of Elmer Johnston's fight card Oct. 23, will be in fine shape for his bout. He has been training daily with Sarmiento, Benny Bass and other boxing stars in "Honest John" Morgenroth's famous gymnasium in Milwaukee. Johnny works with these nationally known stars because he knows that by doing so he will get into the best condition possible, and he wishes to make a good showing on his first appearance in an Appleton ring. He plans to arrive here Oct. 25, ready for the big bout.

but will finish his training in this city. Al Williams, Heiderer's manager, is so sure of his man, that he has often guaranteed to waive all claims to payment unless Johnny turned out to be all he claimed. This was a novel stunt and when Williams posted $1,000 in Milwaukee to back up his claims, it aroused quite a sensation. As it turned out, Heiderer justified his manager's claims and outpointed Harry Kahn, a fast and heavy hitting Cream City slugger.

Jimmy Cowley also is doing a lot of heavy work for his clash here. Jimmy has won the sobriquet "Chicago Slasher." He is said to be one of the fastest men in the Portneian circle and if he is half as hard as Devine, the fighting Scotchman who is "winner" Joe Quinn here, Heiderer will have his work all cut out for him.

Both these boys have the reputation of being fast, hard hitters eager to bore in and always working for a clear cut verdict. If they live up to their reputations Appleton fans will see one of the best bouts staged here in many years, and the fans from other cities in the valley who plan to see their favorites fight in the prelims will be glad to come again.

BLACH CREEK CHURCH OBSERVES FESTIVAL

The annual reformation festival will be celebrated on Sunday, Oct. 26, by the Immanuel Lutheran church, Black Creek, of which the Rev. A. F. Herzfeldt is pastor. The pastor will preach the English sermon at 10 o'clock Sunday morning, and collection will be taken for synodical purposes. Ladies of the congregation are making preparations for their bazaar which will be held on election day, Nov. 4, at the auditorium. A chicken dinner and supper will be served.

Now is the Time to Use Wadhams "High"

COLD weather coming!
If you have been using Wadhams "Low", (or any other gas) you should switch to Wadhams "High". Your motor will start much easier. Saves your battery. Best in all seasons, but a necessity in cold weather.

What is a Load of Coal Worth?

THE basketful customer doesn't part with so much money at a time, but it's one of the travesties — or tragedies — of trade that her cost per ton is 'way higher than the heavy buyer's.

And identically the same economic law sets to work when the car-owner chooses motor fuel on the price charged per filling instead of on the sounder basis of final cost.

Unsatisfactory running, frequent repairs, heavy depreciation and early scrapping bear testimony that kerosene is not quality and that pump savings are not pocketbook savings. And when the results "come out in the wash," it proves a pretty sad, streaked mess to hang on the line of experience.

Wadhams True Gasoline

— used consistently through every season — means that you have chosen to buy your miles at the highest advantage.

Trip by trip, you enjoy the direct comforts of easy starting and smooth, missless running. And with it all abides the deeper consciousness that your motor and power line are not being undermined by staggy, slow-burning explosions, that valves and cylinders are not being gritted by excess carbon and that kerosene dilution can never ravage your oil supply.

Is it any wonder that Quality Cookies are making the best of good cooks throw down their aprons in despair?

DOOZE PLUS TONGUE EQUALS NINETY DAYS

Appleton Man Gets Drastic Lesson in Green Bay Municipal Court

W. R. Larson, a wholesale drug salesman who said his home is in Appleton, has 90 days in which to think over the trouble that a few glasses of hooch and an unguarded tongue can get a man into. He is spending the 90 days in the Brown cell at Green Bay to which he was committed by Judge Fowler of the Green Bay court after conviction on a charge of driving a car while intoxicated.

Larson might have gotten off a good deal easier if he hadn't talked so much. The judge ordered him to pay a fine of $100 and costs and Larson countered with the comment that "I suppose I'll have to pay but I'm getting a raw deal." The judge glared.

"What did you say you were getting?" he barked.

"I'm getting a raw deal," Larson repeated.

"Ninety days—take him out," the judge came back and then it was that Larson realized the handtrap of an untrammelled tongue. He begged for a chance to "fix it up with the judge" but at last reports the judge wouldn't stand any fixing.

Police officers who arrested Larson said he was zigzagging along the street in his automobile and he narrowly missed running down the men who nabbed him.

RINGSIDE SEATS FOR EAGLES AT OSHKOSH

Ringside seats were reserved for Appleton members of Fraternal Order of Eagles who attended the boxing match in Armory B, Oshkosh, Thursday evening. About 55 Appleton men saw the show. Those who furnished cars to convey the lodge members were: John Rettler, Elmer Dewart, Dick Groth, Anton Ulrich, Ray Stark, John Hauus, John Fiedler, Andrew Schiltz, John Hamel, J. Bushey and Joseph Kraft.

Murt Malone, state secretary, Colonel F. Schreier, state chaplain, Harry McLogan, state organizer and Victor Mannhardt, secretary of the Milwaukee lodge gave talks at the gathering. Music was furnished by the Neenah Fife and Drum corps. The lodges represented at the show were Milwaukee, Berlin, Neenah, Menasha, Appleton, Fond du Lac and Kaukauna.

UECKER FARM HOME BURNS TO GROUND

Mrs. Emil Uecker's farm residence in North Cicero was burned to the ground about 10 o'clock Thursday morning as the result of a blaze which started on the roof. Sparks from the chimney are blamed.

Most of the household goods were saved but the building itself is a total loss. The amount of the damage is placed at $2,500 and Mrs. Uecker carried insurance of $1,400.

MULLENIX SPEAKS TO MEDICAL MEN

A paper entitled Mechanism of Anesthesia, presented by Dr. R. C. Mullenix of Lawrence college before the Outagamie County Medical society at a dinner meeting in the Conway hotel Friday night. His paper had to do with the traveling, recovery and transmission of nerve impulses, and was illustrated by specimens that Dr. Mullenix had obtained in biological experiments. A large number of physicians from the county were in attendance.

TWO HURT WHEN CAR HITS TROLLEY WIRE

A broken trolley wire at Rankin and College-ave not only shut off power and held up east end street cars, but also caused an accident resulting in damage to an automobile and injuries to two persons about 7:30 Thursday evening.

Clarence Tibbets, 543 Story-st, driving a Cleveland touring car and accompanied by Mrs. Tibbets, failed to see the trolley wire that was down on the street, and as a consequence, the top and windshield were broken when the car hit the wire. Broken windshield glass cut both of Mrs. Tibbets' hands, and slashed Mr. Tibbets' hand.

H. S. STUDENTS IN TORCHLIGHT PARADE

Students Enthusiastic on Eve of Game With LaCrosse Team

A "pep" meeting of students was held at Appleton high school Friday morning to stir up enthusiasm for the LaCrosse-Appleton game Saturday afternoon. Ribbons, ties and hair-bows of orange and blue, the high school colors, were sold to the students during the week and are worn by almost all students and teachers. Friday morning the high school band made its first appearance under the direction of Bernard Behken. Two sections were played.

The high school has insured against rainy weather on Saturday to the extent of $500, the amount that is guaranteed to LaCrosse high school. Lee C. Rasey, principal said that the one-hour ticket selling campaign on Thursday was successful, although a final checkup on the number of tickets sold had not been received. The senior class has taken over the responsibility of making the event a success and has arranged for a torchlight parade Friday night.
